BRITISH LABOR METS LEAGUE'S GIFT OF MOSUL

Commons Indorses Mandate, 239 to 4.

BY DON SKENE.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

LONDON, Dec. 21.—The house of commons tonight by a vote of 239 to 4 indorsed the action of the League of Nations in accepting the league of nations award of the rich oil fields of Mosul to Great Britain.

The overwhelming government majority vote followed a walkout of the labor party, led by John K. Clynes, acting as leader in the absence of Ramsey MacDonald, who left for Cyprus this afternoon. The Laborites bolted after a party conference at which it was decided to withdraw from the house if Prime Minister Baldwin persisted in demanding a vote before parliament's adjournment tomorrow for the Christmas recess.

The Laborites' withdrawal from the house tonight followed appeals from Mr. MacDonald and Mr. Clynes to Mr. Baldwin urging the prime minister to force them to take a definite stand. The Laborites found them in a dilemma because if they voted against the government motion it would signify a vote against the league.

Checks Friendship of Turkey.
In the course of the general outline of the government's Mosul policy, Mr. Baldwin extended his hand of friendship toward Turkey, which claims Mosul with the announcement that he had invited the Turkish ambassador to meet him tomorrow morning "to discuss the question of Iraq."

Mr. Baldwin assured the house tonight that Great Britain was not committed definitely under the new league mandate to stay in Iraq twenty-five years, but only until Iraq was fitted to enter the league of nations, which it he hoped would be within a much shorter period. The premier reiterated that Great Britain was not pledged merely to spend money to keep troops in Iraq in order to maintain internal order or defend it from external aggression, but simply undertook to cooperate with the league and advise Iraq in maintaining a stable system of government.

War Means Challenge to League.
He declared any action which Great Britain might take if Iraq was attacked by a foreign power, overthrowing the league boundary line, could be fitted in advance, but must remain a problem for any future government in power.

The premier pointed out that a violation of the Iraq boundary would be primarily a challenge against the league, which he said the frontier.

Mr. Baldwin concluded with an appeal for the country's united support against agitation and criticism, which he said represented the British policy and in causing other nations to doubt the British sincerity in the desire for peace and resolution in honoring its obligations.

Random Leader to Meet Kemal.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 21.—Mr. Kemal, one of the heads of the Turkish communist party, will arrive in Ankara tomorrow for a conference with Mustafa Kemal Pasha, the president of the Turkish republic. Great official significance is attached to the meeting.

BELGRADE, Dec. 21.—The Turkish foreign minister, arrived here today to sign a treaty of friendship between Turkey and Yugoslavia. He will also negotiate a commercial treaty.

League Kicks Three Yanks to Farley.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

CHICAGO, Dec. 21.—The league of nations has sent invitations to three American-Americans—a manufacturer, an economist, and a trade expert—to participate independently of the Washington administration in the preparation of plans for the international conference which Louis Loucheur proposed last September and which is likely to be held next October.

MOTHER AWAY SHOPPING; GIRL BURNS TO DEATH

Ellen Hillert, 5 years old, 13377 Ave. N. W. was fatally burned yesterday while her mother was doing her Christmas shopping.

She and her 3 year old sister, Marie, were in the kitchen of the family home. Marie complained of being cold and the older child struck a match and applied it to a paper. It blazed up and ignited her clothing.

Her screams attracted the attention of neighbors, who ran in and extinguished the flames. A physician was called, but could not save her. When the mother, laden with Christmas packages, returned she learned that Ellen's body had been taken to an undertaking establishment.

KIDNAPING JOKE ENDS IN AUTO CRASH; 1 MAY DIE

Two young men and a girl, fleeing in an automobile from a police sloop squad, who believed that the men had kidnapped the girl, crashed into a car driven by Dr. John Lipiecki, a dentist, 1559 West Chicago avenue, at Robey street and Webster avenue last night. Robert Johnson, 25 years old, 4815 Iowa street, the driver, was possibly fatally injured.

The girl, who said she was Florence Kayser, 18 years old, 4515 Fulton street, crawled from the wreckage uninjured to inform the police it was all a mistake. The men had only been playing when they pulled her into their car, she said.

ETTA HEIL IN TROUBLE AGAIN IN LOS ANGELES

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 21.—(Special.)—The police records in the peculiar career of Mrs. Etta Perry Heil, one time wife of a wealthy Chicago broker, were lengthened here this afternoon when she was arrested for passing worthless checks.

Although she gave her name as Mrs. D. E. Bell, the prisoner was identified as Mrs. Heil, the "burglar maid," who figured in sensational burglaries in wealthy Chicago homes in 1921 and 1922, and who later kidnapped her own children, to live with them in a remote house in the mountains of California.

Frank Munsey, New York Editor, Is Reported Worse

New York, Dec. 21.—(Special.)—Frank A. Munsey, owner and editor of the Sun and the New York Telegram, 13, was reported worse tonight. Munsey was operated on for acute appendicitis on Dec. 13, peritonitis developing. On Sunday a secondary operation was performed.

$8,800,000 School Group Recommended

Creation of an $8,800,000 educational center, five buildings and a stadium, on a 60 acre site adjacent to Riverview park, soon will be recommended to the board of education by Supt. William McAndrew.

Plans for the project were laid before the buildings and grounds committee yesterday by William J. Bogan, assistant superintendent, who urged quick action to relieve overcrowding at the Lane Technical High school. The superintendent was asked to submit recommendations.

McAndrew Offers Plan.

Mr. McAndrew urged the following units, with estimated costs:

1. Technical senior high school, $3,000,000.
2. Apprentice school, $800,000.
3. Junior high school, $1,500,000.
4. Normal college, $1,500,000.
5. Junior college, $1,500,000.
6. Stadium, $100,000.

Cost of the site is estimated at $420,000. The first buildings to be erected would be the junior and senior high schools to replace Lane Tech. Then, as rapidly as finances permitted, the apprentice school would be built, followed by the colleges and stadium. Ten years probably would be required to complete the program.

The general plan for a school center on the north side is not new. A year ago the board was on the verge of adopting it. But the cost of acquiring Riverview park, a 110 acre site, then considered, was found to be $4,000,000 to $5,000,000, a prohibitive price.

Cheaper Land Now Available.

It is now proposed to buy thirty acres of unused land on the north side of the park and an adjoining tract of the same size from the Illinois Brick company, at an estimated cost of $7,000 an acre. This would provide a 60-acre campus at a cost within the half-million dollars the board originally thought it would pay.

Trustee J. Lewis Coath voiced the only dissenting opinion on the McAndrew proposal in the committee discussion. Although he favors the educational center, he said, a better location would be Winemakers park, Foster avenue and Robey street, two miles north. That 45 acre park now is owned by the board of education.

Mr. Coath argued that the schools should be placed in a district more sparsely inhabited, where there would be more room for expansion. The future growth of the city lies in the Winemakers district, he asserted.

Vote to Large Population.
Mr. Bogan pointed to the large population surrounding the site he favors as its chief attraction. The people in that region, he said, are of the type whose children are most interested in

MOTHER IS SUING GRANDPARENTS FOR HER CHILDREN

Whether Laverne and Shirley Smith, 5 and 3 years old, will spend Christmas with their grandparents or mother is to be decided today by a Superior court judge.

Mrs. Cora Smith Miller, 4053 Key-stone avenue, the mother, filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus yesterday against Mr. and Mrs. John Kolbe, 3235 Seelye avenue, the grandparents, asking that they be ordered to give the two little girls to her.

Mrs. Miller's petition, filed by Attorney Charles E. Borkstein, charges that after the death of her first husband, Joseph Smith, in January, 1923, the grandparents offered to care for the children. She has married again, this time to Charles H. Miller, and is able to provide a home for the children, she says. But the Kolbeks refused to surrender them.

Admitting there are undoubtedly abuses in its enforcement, Mr. Lowry declared "there is no more chance that the people will abolish the eighteenth amendment than there is that they will abolish the anti-slavery amendment."

Even if they are in the majority, advocates of prohibition are on the defensive, according to Representative Phillips (Rep., Pa.), who advised the House "it is neither the part of wisdom nor patriotism longer to close our eyes to the conditions that confront us."

"Prohibition, fanaticism, religious intolerance, racial animosity, and class hatred have created a serious situation," he declared, "and the end is not yet. We have sown the wind. Our children will reap the whirlwind. The automatic, half-brained, lawless methods used in enforcing the eighteenth amendment and the severe penalties imposed for trifling violations have reacted unfavorably."

DRY DEMANDS ENFORCEMENT WITHOUT FRAUD

Wets Jubilant as House Adjourns.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., Dec. 21.—(Special.)—Drys in the house were treated to a new shock late today when one of the most active of their group—Representative Tucker (Dem., Va.)—proposed amendment of the pending appropriation bill to hamstringing under liquor law enforcement methods.

Under the Tucker amendment, no portion of the $250,000 allowance made to the prohibition unit for the "purchase of evidence" could be used to "induce any person by fraud, deceit or falsehood to violate the prohibition law."

The amendment was inspired by revelations of gay wine parties staged in the Mayflower hotel here by prohibition agents seeking to trap a waiter, and as originally submitted by Mr. Tucker, provided a year's penitentiary sentence for violators.

House Adjourns in Confusion.

An able seaman in house procedure, Mr. Tucker countered on his gristly dry colleagues when they sought to have him ruled out of order on technical grounds, striking the penalty clause from his amendment, he demanded immediate consideration of the revised measure. In the midst of the confusion which followed his maneuver, Representative Madden (Rep., Ill.), chairman of the appropriation committee, moved for adjournment.

Wets in the house are openly jubilant tonight over the drys' discomfiture and the fact that the dry test vote of their strength in the present congress, which will come tomorrow, has been forced by a veteran dry, and that he will be their leader, temporarily, in the fight on present enforcement methods.

Drys Criticize Mellon.

The drys had their innings earlier in the day, when Representative Blanton (Dem., Tex.), and Representative Lowry (Dem., Mo.), undertook to answer Representative Gallivan (Dem., Mass.), who scathingly denounced the Anti-Saloon league on Saturday.

Blanton openly recommended the removal of the prohibition unit from the control of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, who, he asserted, cannot properly enforce liquor laws he does not believe in.

"I see that a large section of the press has said that President Coolidge is going to give prohibition a one year trial," said Mr. Blanton. "If prohibition enforcement has been successful at the end of that time, then the government will go on enforcing it, if not, so these papers say, he will move to modify the Volstead act."

Would Change Dry Chief.
"I cannot believe that is true—and until some one shows me that prohibition is not successful already, I shall take no stock in it."

"But frankly," he demanded, "how do you expect prohibition to be strictly enforced when the supreme power to enforce it does not believe in prohibition? If we want prohibition enforced, we must be out of the hands of this great financier, I'm not blaming him. If I were in his shoes I'd do the same. But the enforcement head must believe in prohibition if prohibition is to be put anywhere."

Mr. Lowry paid his respects to Mr. Gallivan as "the man who went Gallivanting up and down here on Saturday and confirmed my conviction that those who kick because prohibition doesn't prohibit would kick more vigorously if it did."

Drys Put on Defensive.

Admitting there are undoubtedly abuses in its enforcement, Mr. Lowry declared "there is no more chance that the people will abolish the eighteenth amendment than there is that they will abolish the anti-slavery amendment."

Even if they are in the majority, advocates of prohibition are on the defensive, according to Representative Phillips (Rep., Pa.), who advised the House "it is neither the part of wisdom nor patriotism longer to close our eyes to the conditions that confront us."

"Prohibition, fanaticism, religious intolerance, racial animosity, and class hatred have created a serious situation," he declared, "and the end is not yet. We have sown the wind. Our children will reap the whirlwind. The automatic, half-brained, lawless methods used in enforcing the eighteenth amendment and the severe penalties imposed for trifling violations have reacted unfavorably."

BULLETIN.

PEKING, Dec. 22.—(AP)—The spokesman for the national people's army claims the capture of Peking by government forces early today (Tuesday). He says the enemy is retreating on Tientsin, which Gen. Feng Yu-hsiang's forces expect to occupy in the course of the day.

Feng Weary of War.

Gen. Feng, attacking Gen. Li's forces, opened a heavy bombardment several days ago, but met with the stoutest resistance. The Daily Mail's correspondent says that Feng is weakening and that his allies in other districts are not enthusiastic.

Gen. Feng has issued a circular stating that although he has been in the right his heart bleeds for the suffering caused by civil war and he wishes peace. This is interpreted as a virtual acknowledgment of defeat, but no arrangements have been made as yet to discuss peace terms.

PLAN TO PROMOTE MANY OFFICIALS OF SWIFT & CO.

At the annual meeting of stockholders of Swift & Co., packers, on Jan. 4 several changes will be made in the roster of officials, according to reports in La Salle street circles yesterday. These include the elevation of Louis F. Swift, now president, to the chairmanship of the board of directors and of Gustavus F. Swift Jr. to the presidency. It was also said that Edward F. Swift will resign the first vice presidency to become chairman of the executive and finance committee.

These changes, it was said, would mean promotion for numerous others actively associated in the business of the $240,000,000 corporation with twenty-seven packing plants in various parts of the world. Among those to be affected are Charles H. Harold H. and Alden Swift, now vice presidents; C. A. Peacock, secretary; J. B. Corby, assistant secretary; L. A. Carlton, treasurer, and W. W. Sherman, assistant treasurer, all of whom are on the directorate.

SIX WATERWAY STATES BACK LAKE DIVERSION

Attorneys General to Aid Illinois.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Two important moves were made yesterday in Chicago toward completion of the Lakes to the Gulf waterway.

Attorneys general of six states between here and the mouth of the Mississippi met in conference at the Chicago Association of Commerce and agreed to back Illinois in the Lake Michigan diversion suit brought in the United States Supreme court by Michigan, Wisconsin, and other states to prevent any lake water to flow through the drainage canal into the lower navigation channels.

In this action, Louisiana, Missouri, Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi and Arkansas take the ground that their interests are identical with Illinois in this matter, as a 10,000 cubic foot per second flow is declared necessary to maintain permanent water levels in the lower Mississippi and assure year round navigation.

Ready to Build Locks.

At the same time Attorney General Oscar E. Catherin announced for Illinois that the legal way is now clear to go ahead with the construction of the remaining locks in the Illinois river.

He said that the state had just purchased the 37 1/2 acres of land necessary to immediate completion of locks between Lockport and Utica, and that he is ready to institute suits to acquire $400,000 of warehouse land required and for the removal of the old earth dam at Marseilles.

"Nothing now stands in the way of letting contracts and proceeding with the construction of the locks," said Mr. Catherin.

"As the Coolidge administration has already indicated willingness to appropriate sufficient money at this session to do the government dredging in the lower Illinois and other parts of the waterway, the prospects for this old waterways dream for the middle west becoming a reality assume a more rosy hue than in years."

Randolph Moving Spirit.

The Chicago conference is an outgrowth of the recent session of the Mississippi Valley Association at St. Louis, and was brought about by the efforts of Robert Isham Randolph, engineer and waterways expert and vice president of the Association of Commerce in charge of public improvements. He traveled through the southern states arranging this meeting.

At the session were Attorneys General Percy Saint of Louisiana, North T. Gentry of Missouri, Frank M. Daugherty of Kentucky, Frank M. Thompson of Tennessee, Rush H. Knox of Mississippi, and H. W. Applegate of Arkansas. Mr. Catherin and Cyrus E. Dietz, assistant attorney general, represented Illinois. Col. Randolph was present and Edmund Adcock, Morton S. Cressy represented the sanitary district.

Seek Part in Suit.

It was agreed that the states represented would ask leave to intervene in the Supreme court suit brought by the state of Wisconsin et al, seeking to enjoin the state of Illinois and the sanitary district from withdrawing any water from Lake Michigan.

The formal answer of these states now lying up with Illinois will be predicated, it is announced, upon the requirement of water withdrawal from Lake Michigan at the rate of 10,000 cubic feet per second for navigation purposes in the development and operation of the lakes to the Gulf waterway through the drainage canal, Des Plaines and Illinois rivers to the Mississippi and the Gulf.

Apart From Sewage Needs.
This plan has nothing to do with the sanitary requirements of Chicago, around which the fight has been waged in congress in the past. Chicago is taking care of its sanitation problem and the time is in sight when it will not need this flow for this purpose. This was clearly seen at the waterways convention, where the strongest supporter of the 10,000 feet diversion proved to be a Missouri congressman.

The levels of the Mississippi, threatened at certain times of the year by the low supply of water from the upper tributaries, constitute the problem which is felt from St. Louis to New Orleans. This constant, dependable supply from Lake Michigan is declared essential to the success of the whole waterways project, the vital key to the situation which will engage the attention of congress this winter.

The conference agreed upon Attorney Daniel M. Kirby of St. Louis to represent

Coolidge Names Democrat; Dixie Senators Have Row

Washington, D. C., Dec. 21.—[Special.]—The nomination of Richard V. Taylor of Mobile to succeed Charles C. McNary as a member of the interstate commerce commission, which was sent to the senate by President Coolidge today, gave Senator Blaise of South Carolina the opportunity to have read into the record an article in which the senator interpreted as indicating that a "deal" of some sort existed between the President and certain Democratic senators.

His intimation was that Mr. Taylor was nominated partly to please the south and at the same time to garner enough votes from south of the Potomac to make possible the confirmation of Thomas L. Woodcock of New York, whose nomination for the same commission was sent in with that of Mr. Taylor, who has been holding office under a recess appointment after the senate held up his confirmation in the last session.

Underwood Vigorously Denies. Senator Underwood, who suggested the name of Mr. Taylor to the President, was quick to repudiate the insinuations of a "deal" and he denounced the article as of the "guttersnipe" variety. The Alabama senator declared President Coolidge had named Mr. Taylor to make it possible for Mr. Woodcock to overcome the opposition which up to this time has prevented the latter's confirmation. The President had sent for him,

BLOODY CLOTHES ONLY CLEWS TO MYSTERY KILLING

(Picture on back page.) A bed sheet and a suit of underwear, both blood stained, offered the police the only clues yesterday to the mysterious murder of Frank Gibbi, a candy maker, of 937 Larabee street. His body, the head crushed, was found in an alley near 1237 Summit place. The sheet and underclothing apparently had been wrapped about Gibbi's head after he was beaten to death. Gibbi, who was married and had a 4 year old daughter, had not been robbed. Several pieces of jewelry were found in his pockets.

Mrs. Tillie Gibbi, his widow, told the police at the Hudson avenue station that she did not know her husband had enemies. The police believe the killing took place in some dwelling or perhaps in an auto. Gibbi was not affiliated with bootleggers or any other gangsters, as far as the police learned.

PRESIDENT OF FRANCE HELPS BESTOW RED HAT

PARIS, Dec. 21.—A drama, containing one of the hottest feuds between church and state in modern times while on the surface all was calm, was enacted in the ceremony at the Elysee palace today when Mgr. Ceretti, papal nuncio to Paris, received the red hat of a cardinal before President Doumergue, Protestant head of the republic, which twenty years ago tried and partly succeeded in forcing separation of church and state.

Tradition demands that when a nuncio is raised to the dignity of a prince of the Roman church, the chief executive of the state to which he is accredited shall confer the hat. But M. Doumergue is a Protestant and France is governed by a premier (Aristide Briand), who was one of the men who deprived the church of its property in 1905 and who as late as last year fiercely debated the withdrawal of the French embassy from the Vatican.

There was brain racking on all sides as to not to cause affront to Mgr. Ceretti, who is greatly esteemed for the personal qualities he has shown during his four critical years in Paris. Finally a procedure was evolved which called for M. Doumergue and Briand to stand by while Cardinal Dubois of Paris made the actual presentation.

Prices realized on Swift & Company sales of carcass beef in Chicago for week ending Saturday, December 19, including Stock Show prize beef, on shipments sold out, ranged from 8.00 cents to 24.75 cents per pound and averaged 13.15 cents per pound.—Adv.

DEALERS DEMAND TESTED MILK ON 1926 CONTRACTS

Chicago milk retailers are determined to handle milk from tuberculin tested cows exclusively during 1926, even if put to the expense of going outside the Chicago dairy district for their supply, reports indicated yesterday.

Health Commissioner Herman N. Burdick was authority for the statement that most of the distributors are making arrangements to purchase milk produced only by "healthy cows." They will handle only the product of tested herds.

A majority of milk contracts expire in January, it is stated, and most dealers will renew contracts only with producers who can furnish pure milk. Because of publicity incident to the pure milk fight, milk consumption has taken a drop of about 25 per cent in Chicago during the past few weeks, it was learned.

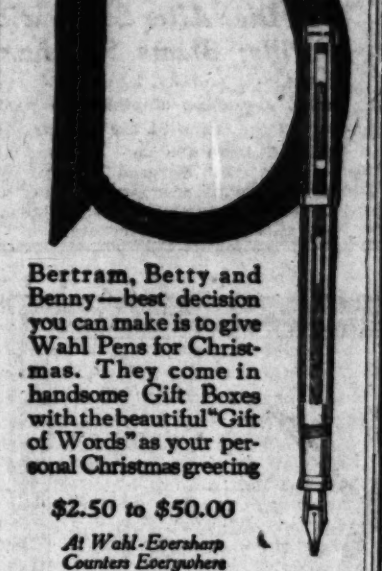

A ruling on the city's efforts to dissolve an injunction aimed at activities of Dr. Burdick and certain of the dealers, granted a faction of the producers in Kane county circuit court, is expected shortly after Christmas. Judges William J. Fulton and John K. Newhall took the problem under advisement following all day arguments at Geneva last Friday.

DRY DEMANDS FRAUD OUTLAWED IN ENFORCEMENT

a homicidal maniac to be trusted with a straphooter.

Cites Evils Born of Dry Act.

"Many of the evils of which we were warned by anti-prohibitionists before the amendment was adopted have come upon us. Many of the benefits confidently predicted by the prohibitionists have failed to materialize."

"Lawless methods in enforcement were to be expected from the pronouncements of the sponsors of the amendment which took over practical direction of the enforcement agencies, dictated penalties and policies, and boasted of dead shots and desperate characters who, in the name of the law and liberty, were to enforce laws of doubtful propriety even before their legality had been established.

There ensued a reign of terror, a miniature civil war, which has become intolerable.

Has Led to Corruption.

"Not only does the prohibition law seek to make legally wrong that which is not morally wrong but it has caused so much emphasis to be placed upon this one law that other and more important laws have been overshadowed and all but forgotten."

"The very nature of prohibition enforcement is in the direction of the corruption of agents of the government. It has caused such a breakdown in the vigilance of our guardians that great holes have been opened not only for the briber, the grafter and the blackmailer, but also for the thug, the murderer, and the degenerates."

State of Hysteria.

"While the bootlegger is being pursued, the burglar operates unmolested." Politically, too, Mr. Phillips told congress, prohibition "has opened the door to high office to the opportunist and the charlatan."

"Under the present state of hysteria that exists in many localities," he said, "the sober, sensible and scrupulously honorable individual cannot qualify as an acceptable candidate. No one is eligible or acceptable except such as bow to the shibboleth that he believes with all his mind, his heart, his will, his strength, his soul that the essence of wisdom is contained in the 18th amendment."

"Since this one supreme qualification takes precedence over patriotism, party loyalty, integrity, ability and even morality, men are lifted to responsible positions who have inadequate training, and unsuitable temperament to lead, to legislate, to govern, to judge."

Seize Albany Brewery.

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 21.—(AP)—Prohibition agents today raided the DeLuxe brewery here and confiscated beer estimated to be worth between $75,000 and $100,000. Three employees were arrested.

COURT REPLACES MARITAL YOKE ON BRITISH COXONEL

(Chicago Tribune From Service.)
LONDON, Dec. 21.—The Sneyd divorce intervention case, which has been holding the attention of London scandal fans lately, ended this afternoon when Lord Justice Merrivale granted the intervention of the king's proctor and rescinded the divorce decree given Col. Ralph Sneyd last January against his wife, Mrs. Irene Marguerite Campbell Sneyd.

The proctor showed that the colonel had condoned his wife's misconduct by resuming a husband's relations with her in the Aberdeen hotel, although the colonel had testified that she had lured him into the bedroom trap. William Holland, a clerk employed by the colonel's solicitors, contributed startling testimony when he stated that Mrs. Sneyd told him she had "committed adultery hundreds of times."

Mrs. Sneyd, on the stand, denied this.

COOLIDGE URGES UNSELFISHNESS ON U. S. YOUTHS

Lads Boy, Girl Scouts in Christmas Greeting.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 21.—(AP)—President Coolidge in a Christmas greeting today to boys and girls of the nation pointed to the value of unselfishness, obedience, and self-control.

The greeting was addressed "to the Boy Scouts, the Lone Scouts, and the Girl Scouts."

"As you are representatives of the nation's youth, who live in or are interested in the open country with which I come into an official relation," he said, "I want to extend to all of you a Christmas greeting. It seems a very short time ago that I was a boy and in the midst of farm life myself, helping to do the chores at the farm, working in the corn and potato fields, getting in the hay, and in the spring time doing what most of you have never had an opportunity to see—making maple sugar."

Praise for Boy Scouts.

"I did not have any chance to profit by joining a Scout organization or a Girl Club. That chance ought to be a great help to the boys and girls of the present day. It brings them into association with each other in a way where they learn to think not only of themselves, but of other people. It teaches them to be unselfish. It trains them in obedience, and gives them self-control."

"A very wise man gave us this motto: 'Do the duty that lies nearest you.' It seems to me that this is the plan of all your organizations. We need never fear that we shall not be called on to do great things in the future if we do small things well at present."

Play as Means of Education.

"There is a time for play as well as a time for work. But even in play it is possible to cultivate the art of well doing. Games are useful to train the eye, the hand and the muscles, and bring the body more completely under the control of the mind. When this is done, instead of being a waste of time play becomes a means of education."

"It is in all these ways that boys and girls are learning to be men and women, to be respectful to their parents, to be patriotic to their country and to be reverent to God."

RUDOLPH AND MAE IN BERLIN; AGAIN IT'S COINCIDENCE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
BERLIN, Dec. 21.—Rudolph Valentino and Mae Murray arrived in Berlin this evening, traveling on the same train from Paris. They are stopping at the same hotel. It is just a coincidence, declared

Rudy, but when Mae was asked about the journey she was not so emphatic in her denial.

"We seem to be bumping into each other all over," said Mae coyly. "Our trip together from London to Paris was purely accidental."

"And this one?" she was asked.

"O, this one was all arranged."

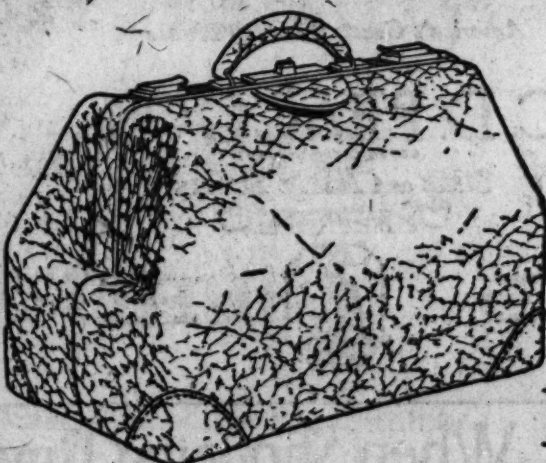

Mr. Valentino called rumors of his engagement with Miss Murray nonsense concocted by newspapers, but Mae had different ideas.

"I couldn't break all the hearts in the world by marrying Rudy," she said, "but wouldn't it be wonderful if it were true? Rudy and I are old friends."

Mr. Valentino believes it will be better for his work if he's unwed.

POOR KIDS CALL GOOD FELLOWS; ARE YOU ON JOB?

Wanted—500 Good Fellows
Don't Send Money

Five hundred families in Chicago will be without Christmas cheer unless 500 Good Fellows step forward. The Tribune does not want money to help these families. Good Fellows, 500 of them, each one to take personal charge of a family, are absolutely necessary or Santa Claus will fail. Empty stockings mean tears for our poor children. Come, Good Fellows! Answer the call!

Telephone or call at The Tribune's Good Fellow Bureau, 11 South Dearborn street (SUPerior 6100), today.

BY MORROW KRUM.

There was no joy in the Good Fellow bureau, 11 South Dearborn street, at the closing hour last night. In the files were 500 little white slips of paper and on each slip of paper was the name of a poverty stricken family to whom Santa Claus will not pay a visit this year unless—

Five hundred Good Fellows answer this call for help.

A consultation of those in charge of the bureau was held. It was learned that of the 500 families, 270 were colored. Five of the families live on the near north side. A few are located on the near southwest side. The remainder are located on the far south side. It was decided that an urgent appeal for help should be sent forth this morning.

What words will best tell the story? What manner of appeal will strike the heart of the thousands who haven't yet awakened to the need and to the pleasure that results from being a Good Fellow?

It's the children, Good Fellow, who need you. The little dirty faced, anemic, ill clad children of the city's unfortunate and unhappy precincts. It

TRIBUNE PARTY FILM DELIGHTS HOME AUDIENCE

Gentle laughter from a hundred really and truly old ladies, of the soft silvery hair, black satin dress, cameo brooch, and gray fascinator type that so many people contend have ceased to exist, greeted the hero during Tim Tribune's presentation of the film, "A Kiss for Cinderella," yesterday afternoon at the Old People's home, 4724 Vincennes avenue.

The performance was the first of a series of four arranged as a holiday treat for both young and old in as many institutions in Chicago. The second of the parties will take place this afternoon, when captivating little Betty Bronson, in the double rôle of princess and pauper, in royal robes and in ragged raiment, will caper on the screen at the Chicago Home for the Friendless.

"A Kiss for Cinderella," furnished to THE TRIBUNE for this purpose by the management of Balaban & Katz's Roosevelt theater, where the film will be shown beginning next week, was something of an event in the lives of the hundred old ladies who viewed it yesterday. Their eager anticipation rivaled that of children awaiting a picnic day.

Although the time set for the showing was 2:30 o'clock, many in the audience had been in their chairs since noon, when the operator and his party arrived.

They missed nothing, they enjoyed everything, and their expressions of appreciation when "the end" finally flashed on the screen were convincing proof that they had enjoyed themselves.

"Sometimes," confided one lovable old soul, "when I'm not interested I fall asleep. But I didn't miss a second of this picture, and how I did love it." And so said all the other old ladies, as they helped one another down the hall.

WORK ON FINAL SALE DETAILS OF DAILY NEWS

Formal Announcement
May Come Today.

The Chicago Daily News is expected to be formally announced tomorrow. Final arrangements for the transfer of the newspaper property to a syndicate formed by Walter A. Strong, business manager of the News, were being worked out yesterday.

There was much speculation in financial circles as to the identity of the syndicate of wealthy Chicagoans who are negotiating the purchase of the $14,000,000 property. It was said these men had agreed to subscribe for more than $1,000,000 in stock and it became known that a La Salle street bond firm was arranging to offer an $8,000,000 debenture bond issue to the public. It was said there will be no public sale of stock at the present time.

Some of Those Named.
Mentioned among the new stockholders of the newspaper were Julius Rosenberg, president of Sears, Roebuck & Co.; Sewell L. Avery, president of the United States Gypsum company; George F. Porter, former national Republican committeeman in Illinois; Joseph E. Cilia, president of the Central Trust Company of Illinois; and a number of other bankers and business men.

It was said Mr. Strong had arranged a loan of $1,000,000 at the Central Trust bank for initial working capital.

Sign Contract Today.
Mr. Strong said last night that he expected the contract of sale to be signed today, as all details had been previously completed. John J. Mitchell, president of the Illinois Merchants Trust company, who is trustee for the estate of the late Victor F. Lawson, owner of the News, said he expected the deal to be closed today or tomorrow.

Car Driver Who Sued Loeb
Leopold Fails to Appear

Charles Reim, 5217 Dorchester avenue, said chauffeur, failed to appear yesterday to prosecute his $100,000 damage suit against Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold, slayers of Bobby Franks, now serving life sentences at Joliet penitentiary. Reim charged he was kidnapped by Loeb and Leopold and mutilated. Judge John A. Swanson continued the case until Jan. 4.

ALDERMEN DENY OR IGNORE M. V. L. GRAFT CHARGES

Claim Salaries Won't Support Them.

Charges made by the Municipal Voters' league that shakedown and graft were prevalent in the city council and that Chicago aldermen spent large sums of money for election expenses met with indifference on the part of the majority of the aldermen in the council yesterday.

Most of the council members passed the charges with a wave of the hand or with the remark, "old stuff," or "a come-on for funds for the voters' organization."

Put Blame on League.

Some few, however, rose up in arms against the charges and laid the blame for high campaign expense at the door of the league, which they said carried on intensive and expensive campaigns against them. "Whenever the league starts opposing you money is no object with them," was the way one alderman put it.

Another group pointed out that few if any of the aldermen were able to live on their $5,000 a year salary, and that the majority were engaged in private business in order to keep their heads above water. With campaign expenses and donations and contributions made through the year, the salary of a council member would not reach far, in their opinion.

One Has "Given" $1,500.

"If reform organizations want to do something constructive, why not educate the public not to try and compel aldermen to buy tickets or otherwise contribute to entertainments, athletic events, or community affairs?" said Ald. Ernest M. Cross (10th). "My books for this year show that I have given more than $1,500 for such purposes."

"I agree with Ald. Cross," Ald. William D. Meyerling (8th) declared. "If it was not for my private business the donations I make would put me on the red side of the ledger. Unless something is done to curb them the aldermen will be forced to give so much time to business that the city's business will get but little attention."

Has Always Ignored League.

"I have never paid any attention to the Municipal Voters' league," was the way Ald. Henry Pick (20th) received the organization's charges. The league in its report hinted that aldermen were asking $500 for obtaining ordinances permitting use of drive-ways into filling stations. The report also referred to the charges of Ald. Charles S. Eaton (5th), made on the floor of the council, that $100,000 was the price for passage of the long delayed Santa Fe ordinance. In answer to the latter charge, Ald. John Coughlin (1st), a member of the subcommittee which brought in the measure, said:

"I, with other members of the committee, obtained $175,000 more from the Santa Fe for the city than was in the reformer's ordinance."

"The league has never been for me," was Ald. Robert R. Jackson (3d) would say.

"If the league's charges are true, then the league knows more than I do," said Ald. George Self (38th). "I don't know anything about it. All I know is that I've found it difficult to make both ends meet."

Ald. Oscar F. Nelson (46th) said: "I pay little attention to anything but the M. V. L. says."

The league in its report promises an exposé of what it is worth to be an alderman. The average expense of $4 candidates at recent elections for campaigns was $2,532, according to the organization's figures.

TEXAS SPEAKER REFUSES SESSION TO IMPEACH 'MA'

Austin, Tex., Dec. 21.—[Special.]—After much wavering on whether or not he should call a special session of the house to investigate the administration and possible impeachment of Gov. "Ma" Ferguson, Speaker Lee Satterwhite today decided against such action. The movement for a special session is now regarded as being dead.

Representative T. K. Irwin of Dallas declared it is possible a majority of representatives may join in issuing a call, leaving Satterwhite out of it. Such action has legal sanction, but it is frowned upon.

For the last two or three weeks there has been a noticeable falling off in public interest in the special session plan. Propaganda distributed through the state in the columns of the Ferguson Forum has had telling effect in the matter of strengthening the "backwoods" support of the Ferguson.

A petition signed by more than 50 members requested that the house be convened in extraordinary session, whereupon I sought the opinion of the attorney general, and was advised that such a session would be without authority to appropriate money to defray the expenses and that such a session could not be financed privately. This would have made it necessary for each member to pay his own expenses."

Gov. "Ma" Ferguson had no comment. Jim Ferguson smiled.

At Last—Something Effective for Wrinkles!

It has been conclusively demonstrated that a simple home-made "Tackroot" ointment, applied to the face, will very quickly eliminate wrinkles, worry, care and age marks. You need only mix a spoonful of 3 of "Tackroot" Tackroot, and 1 of "Tackroot" Tackroot, spread this over your face, then sit down before your mirror and watch the unwelcome lines disappear. In less than fifteen minutes your face will be as smooth and firm as a young girl's. The ointment is so simple to make that even a child can make it. It is a wonderful how this harmless mixture works.

The result, after the mixture is washed off the face is infinitely better than from the most skillful face massage. And the cost is trifling—less than three cents per treatment. Any druggist can supply you with the "Tackroot" in original package. So there's no excuse now for any woman looking so old, haggard or careworn.

THE ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE AS A DEPARTMENT OF GOVERNMENT

Gen. Lincoln C. Andrews, assistant secretary of the treasury department, the war lord of prohibition enforcement, had a heart to heart talk with the house appropriations committee the other day in Washington when the committee was considering enforcement items. The hearing was not public, but the record has been made public.

The appropriations for enforcement will allow the unit $3,200,000 and will give the coast guard money for the enlistment of 1,500 new men for run chasing. Gen. Andrews believes the amounts will be satisfactory.

In discussing prohibition under questioning Gen. Andrews said that enforcement officers had killed 35 persons in the year ending June 30 last and that the officers charged with murder had been removed from the jurisdiction of the state courts into the protection of the federal courts. We have commented before on the system of eliminating the state courts when the crime charged is against the law of the state and when the indictment is against a federal agent of the enforcement unit. That policy of protection is generally found when persecution of habit and opinion is officially undertaken. The force which undertakes it protects its functionaries from the people by keeping to itself jurisdiction over their breaches of law. Otherwise it may be put to the necessity of operating within the law, which, in persecution, is undesirable.

Gen. Andrews also explained the elaborate enforcement device of the enforcement unit. The most detailed story was that of the Mayflower hotel in Washington, an operation which required the enforcement agent to spend several hundred dollars on a little dinner before he could induce the management to open up and sell liquor. This Lucullan incident gives one of the minor reasons why the enforcement job is well liked. It combines business and pleasure. A cry agent can be wet to the ears and pinch his host after the party, a rare privilege, and the government pays the bill.

The most interesting of Gen. Andrews' explanations has been reserved for the last in this comment. He said that Roy A. Haynes, former prohibition commissioner, who no longer functions as such, was maintained by the government as a liaison officer between the treasury department and the Anti-Saloon league, the Y. M. C. A., the W. C. T. U., and other unofficial bodies of private citizens. The purpose of this is political. Mr. Haynes is expected to hold the dry citizens in line and keep them persuaded that the best of all enforcement administrations is meeting every wish of the drier dry. He is a trouble shooter and may be worth a great deal to Gen. Andrews' peace of mind, but officially he represents a recognition of the Anti-Saloon league as a part of the American government. Thus Mr. Haynes coordinates the work of two government departments, the Anti-Saloon league and the treasury department.

This is a subtle perception of a condition which has no warrant in law, but which presents a fact. The policy could go further and recognize that Wayne B. Wheeler, as general counsel of the Anti-Saloon league, was by virtue of that a United States senator and the leader of the senate.

It would be the logical step to recognize the Ku Klux as a department of government and appoint a liaison officer to coordinate it with the department of justice.

A DECISIVE BATTLE IN ANTHRACITE

All the efforts at mediation in the anthracite coal strike have failed. The strike had hardly started when the business men in the mining towns tried to end it. They got nowhere. Gov. Pinchot, who managed to settle the last strike eventually, induced the union to agree to terms which the operators promptly rejected. President Coolidge has seen a little prospect of bringing about peace that he has taken no action at all.

This strike has been going on, now, for three months, and we are beginning to believe it will be a good thing if it continues until one side or the other is defeated. For a good many years the coal industry has been operating in the certainty of periodic labor troubles. The strike is one of the many signs of the industrial revolution which is being effected by the new machinery. It is a sign of the new era of overproduction. Everybody has come to expect a strike every so often in the coal fields. There has been a chronic state of war in the industry, broken now and again by truces lasting a year or two. The public seldom, if ever, before, has been in a position to let one of the conflicts run its course. This time there is not going to be any great suffering on the part of the public if the same time through until spring. In this middle west this suffering is probably less than in New England, but there, too, no shortage of substitutes is likely.

There is reason to hope that the miners and operators may reach a permanent understanding if only they are allowed to test out each other's strength to the limit. One reason coal strikes have been so frequent is the uncertainty of their outcome. If the miners were pretty sure the operators would never give in, the union might hesitate longer before calling another strike. If the operators ators were sure the union would hold out indefinitely, they might be more inclined to negotiate. At any rate, the longer the strike lasts, the more convincing will be the lesson to the hard coal industry—miners and operators alike—that the country does not need their product and can get along easily enough without it. It is time the people in the hard coal business learned that their product is a luxury and a high priced one at that. It will not surprise us if competition forces a reduction in the price of hard coal when the strike is over. Consumers who have become accustomed to using one of the many available substitutes—oil, coke, gas, and soft coal—will not go back to high priced anthracite with the same docility shown after previous strikes. The longer the present strike lasts, the more painful the consequences to miners and operators alike will be.

THE COURT DEBATE IN THE SENATE

Senator Borah, as leader of the opposition to the world court, aims at a separation of the court and league. That may be strategic, but it leaves the real objection to the court unexpressed. There are senators who seemingly believe that whole eggs can be picked out of this omelet. That requires a faith in words which this Tribune does not have. In the purpose of the leagueists the court is the league and the league is the court. The latter is the first step, the former is the destination. In perceiving this we join the leagueists. In hope and intent the two are one. They want both. This Tribune wants neither. We agree in seeing the objective.

The real objection to the court is that if it could stand on its own foundation and if the league were not in existence it would be highly undesirable for the United States to adhere. A fixed international tribunal is incapable of being judicial.

The United States Supreme court is part of the development of a nation. It is of the texture of the American institution, but nearly every crisis in American affairs has been reflected in the opinions of the court. There was a pro-slavery court. Now the court is regarded as fair. Radicals think it is Tory. Undoubtedly if Justice Brandeis were a different character than if Justice Taft were multiplied nine times. Temperament and tradition cannot be escaped wholly in a court even arising from the very soil of a nation's growth.

The international judiciary contains these imperfections raised to their greatest power. It is composed of men who could not with the most supreme effort of detachment, honor, and honesty approach a question of international importance judicially. They cannot hang up their nationality in the cloak room along with the hats and coats. They sit regardless of the character of the question which is raised before them, although its nature might disclose the obvious unfitness of the tribunal to hear it.

The Hague tribunal gives the parties to the litigation the opportunity to select from a panel of judges the ones considered to be, with regard to the particular question, the furthest removed from bias, prejudice, subconscious influence or direct national interest.

Japan would not believe that its plea for immigration rights would get an unbiased hearing from a judiciary of Australians, New Zealanders, Canadians, and Americans. The United States might feel that its right to collect tolls in the Panama canal and fortify it might not get a fair determination in certain circumstances from a tribunal of British, Japanese, French, or Italian judges.

The court, to this Tribune, divested of every other influence, is dangerous in principle and prospect, and nothing it has done yet, down to the advisory opinion in the Mosul oil case, removes the fear of it.

SHAKESPEARE AS A PUBLIC UTILITY

A special court in New York, consisting of two federal district court judges and one federal circuit court judge, has held that a theater court on a public interest as in effect a public utility and therefore was subject to public control, no longer being a luxury but an educational and recreational necessity for the people.

It is not likely that the decision will hold good in the upper courts and to be hoped that it will not. A theater presents the personality of the play writer, the actor, or the producer. If it is a successful property it is due solely to the talent of the people who have made it successful. The difference between a hit and a washout is wholly a personal achievement.

The producer offering it to the public is under certain obligations, but it is a judicial strain to contemplate him as a common carrier regulated by the public equity in his property. He is subject to many laws which prevail for places of public assembly, security law, etc., but if he becomes a public utility he could be prevented from taking a show off when he wanted to if some bureaucrat thought the desire of the public had not been satisfied and made to produce one if another official decided that the public wanted to see it.

The Volstead act has started the courts upon a career of judicial usurpation. May they not change all our conceptions of liberty and personal rights.

Editorial of the Day

NEW NATIONAL PARKS.
[Grand Rapids (Mich.) Press.]

"Announcement comes from Santa Fe that a new national park is planned in the mountain wastes of northern New Mexico—not far from the line of the Santa Fe and the D. & R. G.

Anything to help the tourist railroads and the "See America First" business, of course; but isn't it almost time that the national park idea got around to the point of recognizing the existence of splendid areas east of the Rockies and the Mississippi?

Recently an aviator crashed in the wilderness of that supposedly thickly settled state, Pennsylvania, and it was days before great search parties hunting through the hundreds of miles of wooded wastes came upon his body. At the time it was brought out that Pennsylvania had a far larger wild and unpopulated forest area than some western states regarded as the ultimate in that savage and primeval attraction we attach to the isolated and untouched. Our own Michigan has ample room to get lost in, not to mention a vast virgin forest area, Isle Royale, rich in game and fish and in the variety of the variety of its game life, which is still available to a distant congress for designation as a national park.

For every tourist who will embark at Santa Fe, N. M., to look at the sights, see a hundred would step out of their own automobiles for boat excursions to beautiful Isle Royale. A well organized and advertised national park in the midst of the motor tourist area is a national park at maximum utility.

SPORTING.
"Yes," said Blank, "the two have I shot up in a coop have laid three eggs."

"What security good sports," said Blank. "One must have laid the other two to Santa."—The Blue.

HEALTH WISDOM.

The following bits of health wisdom are taken from Wood and Dana's "Byways to Health." They deal with a variety of things. When a credit is given the presumption is that Wood and Dana's either were the authors or else they would not find out who was.

You've heard of the man from Dundee Who always put sand in his tea. He received a shock When he found that a rock Had formed on the inside of his teeth.

How did it happen? said he, said he. "How did it happen to be?" Thunderbolts do not come from a clear sky; they come from unobserved clouds.—New York Times.

"Had you come to me a few years ago I could have cured you easily." "But I did not have this affliction a few years ago." "No, but you had the habits which were the cause of it."

He lets a few go longer than he lets the others go. He lets them pile along the road as if he didn't know. But when they figure they have passed all chances for a wreck. He reaches out a bony hand and grabs them by the neck.—Grantland Rice.

They think themselves over very carefully every morning and see if they can locate a pain somewhere. If they do succeed in doing it, I understand that their morning is wrecked.—Montague Glass.

Good cooks have saved more men from perdition than a dozen missionaries.—St. Peter.

The poor woman was killed cooking her husband's breakfast in a most shocking manner. A cheap food, well cooked, has far more nutritive value than an expensive one poorly prepared.

"Didn't your conscience tell you not to take it?" "No, mother, I grabbed quick." Do not throw a habit out of the window.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

Letters to this department must be signed with names and addresses of writers.

ON A SMALL SALARY.
Chicago, Dec. 20.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—I have an account with a furniture company for four hundred dollars. I have made some payments but as I am only making $17 a week and try to support a wife and child on that, I find I cannot pay the furniture bill. So I have to ask you to take back the articles, but they won't do it. They threaten to attach my wages. Of the small amount I am getting how much can they take? And do you think I will have to pay? W. T.

It seems probable that your contract is so worded that he is within his rights. Unless you have some defense you are liable for the amount you agreed to pay and you cannot avoid such liability merely by returning the goods. The legal exemption from garnishment is $15 per week in case of the head of a family.

TRIBE LAW DEPARTMENT.

CLAIM ON TEXAS LAND.
Thebes, Ill., Dec. 20.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—My mother's grandfather left an estate of some 4,500 acres of land in Texas. This was about 35 years ago. It is still possible to get possession of this land? A town is now located on some of the land and other improvements have been made. Would this keep the heirs from claiming it? W. G. J.

Your claim is probably barred. If you wish to secure a conclusive answer you should forward the matter to a Texas attorney to investigate the facts as to adverse possession. TRIBE LAW DEPARTMENT.

DYING HARD.
Chicago, Dec. 18.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—A friend of mine tried to get a divorce, but her husband contested. He pays alimony, but always sends nagging notes to his wife with the check. He has a housekeeper, and took the housekeeper to Grand Canyon last summer. Is this lawful?

2. Can he take bills due him from the children out of her alimony? L.

1. The bare facts that you state are not necessarily unlawful, although they strongly implicate him. If they are accompanied by unlawful acts, they are unlawful. In general, no. Her attorney is in a better position to advise her than we are. TRIBE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

60 YEARS AGO TODAY
DECEMBER 22, 1865.
WASHINGTON.—On motion of Senator Howard the President was asked to report to the senate on what grounds Jeff Davis is confined and why he is held in custody.

WASHINGTON.—Senator Stewart called up the bill to secure the freedom of the citizens of states recently in rebellion. Senator Wilson spoke in favor of it. He said that the idea that the Democratic party is coming into power either through the agency of the President or anybody else. He declared he had no fears that the President would separate from the party which elected him, to which he is bound in honor, by principle and by interest. Senator Salisbury denied he had said the Democratic party was to come into power through the agency of the President.

PHILADELPHIA.—Senator Yates, in stepping out of the Continental hotel, fell down and broke his arm.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—The remains of President Lincoln were taken from the Oak Ridge cemetery vault and deposited in the new vault recently erected on the brow of the hill, near the site selected for the monument.

NEW YORK.—The remains of President Lincoln were taken from the Oak Ridge cemetery vault and deposited in the new vault recently erected on the brow of the hill, near the site selected for the monument.

WINTER WARMTH.

If, in some month not suited to good will, As this one is, or in some time of stress, The tedious, dull details of living press Upon you till the world seems deadly ill; If, in bright June perhaps or August's heat, You find your heart is not to warm as now And you are chill and lone, you know not how—

Remember then the gladness of these days. Their human warmth and love divine remember. Quickened to flame the faintly glowing ember Of faith and cheer. Seek for the friendly ways. And let the Yuletide radiance of December Brighten and warm your April and your May.

THE NEWSPAPERS say that a woman celebrated her one hundredth birthday by making her first speech over the radio. Oh, indeed, no! We're certain we have heard her singing "Holy Night" lots of times.

CONGRATULATIONS.
Dick: The twins have the whooping cough, our rent has been raised, I can't "make the Line," my husband is going to lose his job (maybe), and Santa Claus isn't going to bring me a thing this year. But I don't care. Yesterday I got a 1935 Linebook!

HELEN LOU.

A Visit with Santa Claus.

R. H. L.: In Richmond, Ind., other day a merchant had his store filled with children who had come to receive a gift from Santa Claus, himself, the store's compliments. Santa talked with the little tots and finally took one of them up in his arms and asked if his Santa Claus voice, "Well, my little man, what would you like from Santa for Christmas?" "Thethus Thrist," said the little child, "didn't thou get my letter?" SAND TEE.

Then the next thing you know somebody will pin a D. S. M. on your shroud, and the epiphany on your marker will be "Killed in action during Linebook Offensive, December, 1932."

UTE ELM.

Well, Do the Best You Can.

R. H. L.: I am anxious to spread Christmas cheer with gifts that would be appreciated, but I have only one tomahawk and a scalping knife, and I want to send gifts to more than two members of the Mitchell court martial. What to do?

SECOND MICHIGAN.

NINETY-ONE THOUSAND AND EIGHTY-SIX LINEBOOKS had been sold yesterday up to 3 o'clock in the afternoon. It's too bad you have to wait in line and be disappointed time and again, but, after all, the Trib. Pub. Serv. Bu. is getting out a lot of books. And the new Linebook was brought out only a week ago. Cheer up, you'll get yours yet.

He's a College Chappie.

Dickie dear, lend me your ear. Would you like to make a III orphan happy Xmas? I crave not jewels, nor furs, nor bon-bons, just the address of that nondescript who pens himself Misogynist.

WANNIE.

That's Mighty Nice of You.

R. H. L.: When last received the manuscript of Wagner's "Lohengrin" he wrote to him: "Gladly would I sing to you with a thousand voices your beautiful opera. A wonder, a wonder! Dearst Richard, you are indeed a divine man! I would alter that somewhat and say to you, IT is a wonder, dearest Richard."

M. J. P.

OH, HOW CLEVER!

R. H. L.: Out at the University of Chicago Prof. Craigie is whiling away his gayer moments in the compilation of a new English dictionary. (Oh, professor, how could you!) I move you, Dr. Craigie, that you resort to a coin a substitute for that beaudevoiled, flapperized favorite—CLEVER. And then, Mr. Craigie, we'll take little old "clever" over to the academy and cold-pack it in the biggest airtight jar on the topmost shelf and let it dry-rot to oblivion.

COSE HALL.

We'll Autograph Your Next One.

Dick: How would you feel, if after going to the Trib office six times before you finally succeeded in getting a Linebook, and then on the way back to the office have some one snatch it away from you? How would you like it?

L. C.

DEAR MR. CLAUS.—We haven't written to you before, but you can get a Comb-back Windsor down our chimney? You'll have to swipe it, Mr. Claus, while you're distributing presents in Connecticut, or Vermont, or somewhere down there, because it's got to be the real thing and a hundred and fifty years old at least. None of your North Pole factory reproductions, Mr. Claus, it must be the genuine article, or it will be thrown right through the front window. We won't throw it, Mr. Claus, but it will be thrown. Do what you can, Mr. Claus, and if you look under the woodpile by the fireplace, there will be something to sort of warm you up—you know.

The Long Shot Has Stolen Week Neece.

Dear Richard, I no hoo the guy on the küber is Ma The Long Shot an' he's still waring those short white pants what he had on up to pontrek last summer. I propose a tag day for the perpus up bying The Long Shot sum close that he perpus his legs—something close be den fer this pore bruthur up the Line. yurs, SALERATUS SAL.

We've Got to Wait for Howard.

R. H. L.: On next Line Nite are you going to announce "This is W-G-N," or as Quin says, "This is Double U-G-N?" I must have something to look forward to.

LITTLE-E.

JUST AS ALWAYS probably some people will swear off drinking alcoholic liquors this New Year's. Better include booze, hooch, and white mule, too.

THE LIARS CLUB.

Mr. Little: I just gave my brother-in-law a drink and he forgot to say, "Here's success to crime."

HARLEN SHAKES.

Dick: The boss handed me my week's salary and DIDN'T say a darn word about spending it all in one place.

FROM A FARMER'S WIFE.

Woodstock, Ill., Dec. 18.—Because the newspaper reports of the milk supply must be so terrifying to Chicago mothers, I feel constrained to tell them my experience, hoping to somewhat allay their fears. I was born and raised on my father's farm in McHenry county, married a dairyman and continued to live there. For 45 consecutive years milk has been shipped to Chicago from this farm, and I believe our milk is not only pure, but it is the best milk in the state. I and my children and, later, tenants' children drank this milk. It is not true that farmers use only milk from certain cows, and, furthermore, I never heard of them bringing home diseased milk for family use. We are not afraid of our own milk. It is a long way from our cows to your icebox, and pasteurization is necessary to keep it sweet.

So all these years we have been drinking these terrible germs alive, and yet I have never known an adult or a child to even be suspected of having it. My experience is not an exception among neighbors or friends in our country. Mother love is the same everywhere, and we would not feed our babies what is not fit for a Chicago child.

One article said our county leads the U. S. in amount of milk shipped. Maybe, but we are not leading the nation in b. c. cases.

I am convinced that the newspaper writers know about as much about dairying in northern Illinois as I know about politics, and I believe our milk is not nearly as rotten as politics, whether in Chicago or downtown.

Mrs. A. J. MURPHY.

PROTECTING THE MILK SUPPLY.

Andrews, Ind., Dec. 18.—We read this Tribune over here in Indiana and are very much interested in the question of Chicago having good milk, especially for the babies and growing children. I wish to suggest the following plan: Let the milk dealers raise their price two cents a quart. But where a sign is displayed like either one of these two: "Baby here" or "Growing children here," the price should be placed at one cent a quart below the present price. This plan would give the milk dealers a fair "carry on" price, would protect the babies from the higher prices, would be thoughtful of the needs of growing children, and would place the extra charge on the adults, the hotel population, and families with no babies or children, that should be better able to stand the advance in the price of their daily quart of milk.

WATCHING THE PARKED AUTOS.

Chicago, Dec. 12.—There seems to be a growing business in the loop for men who supposedly watch your car while you are at the theater, etc. Every block downtown has a few of them officiating. They strip your car of everything worth while and then when you come out tell you that they have been watching the car and expect a quarter or more. It appears to me that if the city would have some policemen remove these "Five Yard Men" from the loop the cars would be unharmed.

RALPH D. CLIPKIN.

VALENTINO LIKENED TO A WART.

Chicago, Dec. 18.—I had a wart on my first finger, a little inconspicuous affair that was in no way a hindrance to my activities, nor did it cause me pain, and yet it came to absorb so much of my attention, conscious and unconscious, that I had it removed.

I cannot help feeling that you, too, have a wart in the shape of a dark eyed charm of feminine hearts. Mr. Valentino, which has assumed almost complex proportions.

There are too many living, vital matters that need to be drawn constantly to the attention of Chicago business men and women for the editorial columns of this Chicago Tribune to devote repeated space, as you have done in "Five Yard McCarthy" and "Wilder Men," to one who plays so small a role in the world's affairs.

He is an as distinguished in Mr. Valentino as a whale is to a goldfish. In his field of endeavor Rudy is playing his part superbly. Get him off your mind.

ARNOLD A. KAMINSKY.

MOORISH CHIEF BOWS TO FRENCH ON PEACE TERMS

British Officer Carries
Krim's Offer to Paris.

(Copyright, 1925, by The New York Times.)
PARIS, Dec. 21.—There seems reasonable hope that Abd-el Krim's self-constituted emissary, Capt. Gordon Canning, who is a descendant of the British prime minister of the beginning of the last century, will advance the negotiation of peace between the Rifians and France. Capt. Canning will arrive in Paris tomorrow.

Abd-el Krim's Letter.
To an interviewer today at Mar-celin, Capt. Canning showed his letter of recommendation from Abd-el Krim, which reads:

"In the name of God, humbly, peace, and thanks. May it be known by these presents that we, by the grace of God, authorize the bearer to receive for us the conditions which France and Spain offered in July last, which may serve as a base of negotiations for peace, so that we may take them into our consideration, examine them,
and accept or refuse them."

"Let peace be with you."
—Sixteenth Jornada, 1344.
—Mohamed Ben Abd-el Krim."

Has Krim's Confidence.
Recently the former British cavalry officer has the confidence of the Rifian leader, for his final instructions were:

"All that you say, my brother, will represent my views."
The Englishman said Abd-el Krim
was disposed to accept the first five points of M. Painleve's terms and showed a copy of the terms annotated by the Rifian chief to this effect. On the sixth, the seventh, and eighth conditions he asked for verbal explanations.

"He is ready to recognize the spiritual sovereignty of the sultan," said Capt. Canning. "If France and Spain grant autonomy to the Rif commensurate with the needs of the country, or a status similar to that of the British dominions, with full administrative,
political, and economic independence.
"He is ready to forego foreign representatives and is willing to accept the customs regulations which operate in Morocco. He is further willing to recognize the open door in commercial matters. He wishes to keep a gendarmie equal to the needs of the population, but will sell all supplementary armaments now in the country."

The Rif leader's territorial demands seem unlikely to exceed those of France and even those of Spain, as he is willing to renounce claim to Tetuan
if Ajdir is evacuated, and will leave Melilla, Ceuta, and Larache, with a hinterland of about twenty miles, to Spain. He would also agree to enlargement of the international zone of Tangier.

MODEL CHARGES DEALER IN REAL ESTATE BEAT HER

street, a real estate dealer, was arrested yesterday on a charge of assault and battery sworn to by Miss Lorraine De Barker, a model living at the Riemel hotel.

Miss De Barker charged that when she and Walter, with another couple, were returning home from a road-
house, he beat her.
Walter is 38 years old, married, and the father of two children.
Harry S. Miller, picture frame manufacturer, friend of Miss De Barker, and a resident of the Commonwealth hotel, also swore to a complaint charging Walter with disorderly conduct.

A Tragedy In Two Scenes

"Did she remember her promise of a canter with him some afternoon?" Did she!
This blasé Miss had thought of little else since meeting the owner of that wonderful voice on the phone.

He arrived at four, and she was ready to mount Charger. His voice again; he was asking for a glass of water before they set forth. No servant was about, so quite informally he followed her to the butler's pantry. She found a gleaming glass—and turned on the faucet!

The glass was drained, of course. But she noted the puzzled look, and knew. People of their kind did not ordinarily drink hydrant water. It was the one careless habit of her otherwise fastidious family.

As they rode by the lake she could not forget that moment at the sink. And when they stopped at the public fountain to water the horses! She had the wild wish that there had never been a lake.
Then there would have been drinking water in her home. For their own good,
all families should have crystal clear, inviting pure spring water to drink. Inner cleanliness and healthful regularity demand plenty of water.

Pure spring water is not a luxury. All that a big family could drink costs but a trifle. The bill for a whole year would not be large to the humblest workingman. Organization has done this; Chicagoans may now have fresh water daily from the famous Waukesha springs.

Glass-lined tank cars bring it every morning from Wisconsin; a fleet of thirty-five trucks delivers it like your newspaper.
It's the purest water that ever bubbled from a spring. It comes in air-tight bottles, so that no impurities could creep in later
—however long you kept it. So, drink water that is safe—that never "tastes"
—that's always delightfully drinkable.

Where do you get this wonderful spring water? Telephone Superior 6543 today, and your home will be kept supplied.
The cost? A cent, or two a meal!

ABOLISH RAIL LABOR BOARD, EXECUTIVES ASK

Abolition of the United States railroad labor board is recommended by the Association of Railway Executives, meeting at the Blackstone hotel.

As a result of extended conferences between a committee of the executives, headed by Gen. W. W. Atterbury of the Pennsylvania railroad, with leaders of four major railway labor unions, the two groups have agreed on the proposed legislation, it was announced.

A few minor points need to be ironed out at future conferences authorized yesterday by the executives, after which the agreed bill is to be submitted to President Coolidge and to congress.

Labor Board Substitutes.

Substitute machinery is to be set up to take the place of the labor board, in which new boards of adjustment and conciliation are to take up controversies over wages or working conditions, with the idea of minimizing government intervention.

Instead of the semi-judicial jurisdiction of the present railway board, it is sought to establish bodies which will bend their energies strictly to arbitration, to bringing the disputants to agreement.

When the Howell-Barkley bill was introduced in the last congress, providing for dispensing with the railroad labor board, the executives objected to it strongly, but since then alternative measures have been discussed which have met with their approval.

R. H. Ashton of Chicago was re-elected chairman of the executive committee, and Alfred P. Thom of Washington general counsel. The entire executive committee was re-elected.

Expenditures of $1,300,000,000 were authorized by class 1 railroads in 1925, according to a statement issued by the executives.

Of that sum $775,000,000 was spent during the year, the remainder to be expended in 1926.

$3,125,000,000 on Improvements.

In the last four years, the statement showed, more than $3,125,000,000 has been spent by the railroads for improvements to equipment and plant facilities in order to handle the enormous freight traffic.

Increased traffic in Florida since the land boom there was discussed by the board of directors of the American Railway association.

They approved the recent formation of a special Florida division of the Southeastern Shippers' advisory board, and authorized the taking of any steps which will meet the demands.

Drug Stores Close from 2 to 6 P. M. on Christmas

All drug stores in Chicago will be closed from 2 p. m. to 6 p. m. on Christmas and New Year's day, according to an announcement made yesterday by Isaac M. Leight, secretary of the Chicago Retail Druggists' association. Stores will open again at 8 o'clock in the evening.

HARMONY MOVE ABANDONED BY G. O. P. GROUPS

BY PARKE BROWN.

Efforts at harmony among Republican factions in Cook county are now a thing of the past for this season.

The public gesturing of this nature, which lasted several weeks, was abruptly and completely terminated yesterday by the Barrett-Crowe leaders with a following swelled by most of the Brundage ward committeemen, several of the Lundin camp, and even some Thompson lieutenants.

That it was all off was announced without reservation following a dinner of this more or less extemporized collection of political bedfellows at the Hotel Sherman. The first steps had been taken to put out a complete ticket in the county, sanitary district, and municipal court under the banner of the 1916 county committee organization.

Crowe Is Spokesman.

State's Attorney Crowe, who had been chairman of this organization's peace conference delegation, did most of the talking during the meeting and he was the spokesman who talked to the newspaper men after the adjournment.

In each instance he emphasized two points. He said that he and his associates in the negotiations found it impossible to proceed further when the Deneen leaders insisted that the candidates of each group on a harmony ticket must be acceptable to the other groups.

The state's attorney referred to this as Deneen "insistence upon a veto power"; but earlier in the day when the harmony meeting failed to materialize because of the absence of the Barrett-Crowe representatives, a Deneen contention had been that an agreement to back candidates "slight unseen" was like accepting a marriage license in blank—without knowing the name of the girl.

Let People Be Choosing. But Crowe's second point was he and his associates had been convinced the harmony movement was wrong in principle.

"We believe that we should live up to the spirit of the primary law," he said, "and let the people choose the nominees. We feel that the selection of a handpicked ticket by the bosses would be a violation of that spirit."

Upon his motion the meeting authorized Chairman Homer K. Galpin to appoint a steering committee of twelve, which, with the aid of the ward and country district committeemen and the cooperation of an advisory committee of 250 men and women to be named by the ward leaders, four to a ward and fifty from the country towns, will proceed to slate a complete ticket.

Slate Under Way.

In proof that things are already under way in this direction the printed nominating petitions of Charles V. Barrett, board of review; John H. Passmore, clerk of the Criminal court, and L. F. King and Morris Eller, sanitary trustees, were exhibited.

And it also was announced that Frank P. Brady, clerk of the Appellate court, one of the Lundinites who sat in the peace conference, will have this organization's backing for re-nomination.

Among the notable absentees were E. J. Brundage and Commissioner William Busse. The latter may show up as a Deneen recruit, and there is still indecision among the Brundage people concerning where they finally will line up.

Serve two kinds of pie for your Christmas dinner

The popular new Kitchenette size Tea Room Pies permit of variety in dessert at small cost

FOR THE good, old-fashioned Christmas family dinner, there is no dessert that can ever take the place of pie. A Christmas dinner without pie is like Christmas without Santa Claus.

Ices and mousses and parfaits, and the variety of desserts which we associate with more formal affairs—these have no place at the Christmas dinner where jollity and good fellowship hold sway. Rare-flavored mince pies, rich pies of golden pumpkin, pies bursting with fresh fruits, delicious custard and cream pies—all are inseparable from the Christmas feast.

For fifty-six years, now, Chicago has looked to Case & Martin for their pies at Christmas time. A year ago, Case & Martin Tea Room Pies, then new, and the most marvelous pie that baking skill had yet created, adorned the tables of the finest homes in the city.

Wonderful pies—
in a more convenient size

This year we have a new surprise for you—these delightful Tea Room Pies in a new and convenient, Kitchenette size, and enclosed in individual cartons. Now you can serve your guests two kinds of pie—generous cuts of mince and pumpkin, for instance, as a perfect ending of a perfect meal.

You have never tasted better pies—of that we are sure. The finest ingredients, the choicest seasonings, the flakiest crusts—these are the secrets of their goodness. You will be proud to claim these Tea Room Pies as your own.

Place your order early

More Case & Martin Tea Room Pies were served at Thanksgiving dinner this year than ever before in our history and yet, in spite of our best efforts, many were disappointed. That is why we urge you to order early—so that we may anticipate your requirements and safeguard you against disappointment.

Telephone your grocer or delicatessen now and tell him how many Tea Room Pies (Kitchenette size or large pies) you will require for your Christmas dinner. He will gladly get them for you—and we'll assure you of a genuine treat.

"The Colleges are not worth a damn; they turn out nothing but leg scholars."—the angry criticism of a Wall Street Banker who "yanked his son out of—" one of the big three, "because he wasn't making good." In "The Four Winners" Knute Rockne uses the English language in a way that makes for mental, moral, sporting and Academic success. You will see, too, that college men can "make good," "can write," that the colleges are worth "much more than a damn" and that they really "turn out something more than leg scholars and Bond Peddlers."

EASY TO RAISE CITY'S REVENUE, ALDERMEN HEAR

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

While city officials complain of the lack of funds to make needed permanent improvements, to obtain adequate health, police, and fire protection, and to pay higher salaries to various city employees, Henry M. Ashton, special attorney of the board of education, told the council finance committee yesterday that increased valuations for taxation are not difficult to obtain.

Ashton said $500,000,000 "easily can be obtained" in increased valuations. He estimated that with half an effort that amount could be added next year. Mr. Ashton repeatedly complimented Chairman Charles V. Barrett of the board of review, to whom he ascribed a desire to increase valuations. He said that Mr. Barrett proposed to make a revaluation of land in several sections of Chicago next year, citing specifically the near north side and the section south of 67th street.

Predicts Easy Increase.

If Mr. Barrett goes through with his program, Ashton said, he will need at least $200,000,000 in added valuations easily can be placed upon the books next year.

The significance of that statement lies in the fact that such a valuation would set the tax-expending bodies at about $21,000,000 added income. It also would boost the bonding power of the city about $40,000,000.

Ashton asserted that if the relief comes it will be through the board of review. He referred to the board of assessors "as impossible."

"I filed 100 or so complaints with the board of assessors," Ashton said, "and they did the equivalent of throwing them into the waste paper basket."

I got nowhere. The board never meets. Each assessor goes it for himself. I could not get them together to talk to them."

Both Accuse Assessors.

"Then there's something the matter with the board of assessors," observed Ald. Eaton (5th).

"I'll say there is," Ashton replied. "In order to boost their totals they give fictitious values to a lot of tramps valuations which mean nothing."

"Could we mandamus them to have meetings and pass on valuations?" Ald. Eaton asked.

"Yes," Ashton said. "The discussion came up during consideration of the firemen's association's request for an increase. Their attorney reported that he had added $18,494,000 to the capital stock valuation of 14 corporations."

UNSEEN THIEVES ROB BROKER OF $15,000 IN GEMS

Robert Rueping, a diamond broker, was robbed of a wallet containing uncut diamonds valued at $15,000 at noon yesterday by two men he did not see, on the 15th floor of the Marshall Field Annex building.

"They must have fallen out of the sky," he told Lieut. James Scully. "I did not see them. I had just left my dentist's office and was walking toward the elevator when they seized my arms and pinioned them behind me. They kept pushing me down the stairs and one of the men reached in my inside pocket and removed my wallet."

Rueping, who is 60 years old and lives at 803 Cornelia street, was shot twice by his wife nine years ago.

SOVIET RUSSIA DROPS ITS WAR ON SANTA CLAUS

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

RIGA, Latvia, Dec. 21.—The workers of Russia will not be fined for not reporting for work this Christmas, for a special decree of the soviet people's commissars declares Dec. 25 and 26 "days of rest" throughout Russia. The decree carefully avoids mention of either "Christmas" or "holidays" and marks an end of the efforts of the communist party to force the workers not to observe Christmas. During the last three years the soviet government has offered bonuses and also extra New Year holidays to workers reporting for a full day's work on Christmas, but the response proved so small that the communists were compelled to abandon their attack on Santa Claus.

England Begins Holiday Shutdown.

LONDON, Dec. 21.—The Christmas shutdown has begun in England. Many wholesale business houses have already closed until next week, and public offices are almost deserted by their staffs, anticipating the holidays. All government offices will be closed from Wednesday until Monday and no newspapers will be published in England on Friday or Saturday.

TWO DIE AS 1925 AUTO TOLL MOUNTS TO 763

William J. Robertson, 42 years old, 11 North Peoria street, was probably fatally injured in a collision between his automobile truck and a taxicab driven by Charles Berlam, 56 East Chicago avenue. ## SUICIDE, JURY SAYS OF DEATH OF MRS. H. C. PRICE

Something that was unreal to her husband, but to her was an overwhelming motive, led Mrs. Helen C. Price, 36, of 1145 Maple avenue, Evanston, to die by gas Sunday morning. Yesterday a coroner's jury returned a verdict of "death by asphyxiation with suicidal intent."

Mrs. Price left a note, asking that her husband have her sister bring up their son until the boy shall be 21. "Am leaving the bonds toward that purpose," said Mrs. Price's farewell note. "You are not to blame. Something in myself I could not conquer."

Making Use of Financial Knowledge

We all know people whose minds are nothing but reservoirs of knowledge. They read and read and read, but only they themselves know what they've been reading. They never talk about it, or make any use of it.

Bankers can get that way, too. They can be reservoirs of a great deal of financial knowledge, but if they don't give it out, it doesn't do anyone any good—not even themselves.

In this Bank our aim is to give out financial advice and service. And since this is our aim, we can attract to our staff men and women who are not purposeless reservoirs of inactive knowledge, but who learn in order that they may be of more use to others. Because of this, we feel justified in saying that we offer not only service, but an extra measure of service.

However, we can't give unless people come to receive. And the more service bankers, business houses and individuals ask of us, the more ways we can find of giving service. The more you give, the more you have to give, is one of the truest things man ever said.

OFFICIALS MOURN AT LAST RITES FOR TOM MURRAY

Shall the memory of our departed brother fade from among men? was the solemnly voiced line in the ritual read yesterday above the body of Tom Murray, county commissioner, in the sun parlor of the Hyde Park hotel.

"It will live forever" was the melodious response of the quartet assisting in the obsequies.

With Mr. Murray, county commissioner, who died at the age of 72 last Friday, lying peacefully in his silk covered, satin lined casket and buried beneath a mountain of flowers, the rites of the Knights Templar were spoken in the hush and in the ears of several hundred friends.

Swords crossed above Coffin. Commander Peter Anderson and Private Robert Mabin, Todd of St. Bernard commandery, No. 35, K. T., conducted the Masonic services. Seventeen others from the same fraternity were present, their swords crossed above the coffin, their ostrich plumed chapeaux at salute, red-lined capes on arm.

Wreaths and crosses and crowns of roses, lilies, and chrysanthemums filled one end of the long room. They came from Medinah shrine, from forest preserve employees, from the board of county commissioners, who were present in a body, from the Elks, and from those who preferred the anonymity of signing "A Friend."

Widow Is Not Present.

Mrs. Murray, the widow, was not there. She is ill from her bereavement. Relatives who mourned during the services were Mr. Murray's sisters, Mrs. C. G. Meeker and Mrs. F. K. Deming. Mr. Deming and his daughters, Miss Ella and Miss Dorothy, and his son, Murray, followed the body to the grave in Oakwoods cemetery.

Full bearers were John Cornell, Homer Hirst, Francis X. Busch, Charles Ringer, Dr. Karl Meyer, and Al V. Booth.

The partisanship of politics was for-

MITCHELL DIMS HIS OLD ATTACK ON SHENANDOAH

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 21.—[Special.]—Col. William Mitchell told the Shenandoah board of inquiry today that he meant it "only in a psychological sense," when he told the world last September that "the Shenandoah's survivors are muzzled by the navy department pending a whitewash board."

"Is that your statement?" asked Judge Advocate Maj. Henry Leonard—apropos of the sensational September utterance—after Col. Mitchell had breezed before the board with a cheery "Good morning, admiral!" to Rear Admiral Hilary P. Jones, president of the "whitewash board," as the colonel had called it.

"It was and it still is," was the colonel's answer to Maj. Leonard's question.

"You mean that the survivors were

COURT MARTIAL OF MITCHELL CAUSES MAJOR TO RESIGN

San Francisco, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Maj. Robert R. Morgan, reserve officer in the army quartermaster corps, today telegraphed the resignation of his commission to Washington, because of dissatisfaction over the findings of the court martial that tried Col. William Mitchell of the army air service.

In his telegram Maj. Morgan accused the general staff of incompetency and said that "I have lost all respect for and care in my superiors that should be held by all soldiers."

Maj. Morgan said in the message that his attitude was caused by "the Fabian policy displayed by the war department toward national defense."

He termed the conduct of the Mitchell court martial as "asinine."

Not allowed to tell the truth?" said Leonard.

"Not exactly that!" the colonel replied. "All I meant was that the proper keeping quiet after an accident—men are always warned after an accident not to talk at random and that is proper—might make it impossible to get the facts."

The judge advocate: "Which one of the survivors has violated his oath?"

The witness: "I don't think any one did. An airman never feels free to talk before a tribunal of this kind. He is on his guard every minute. It's a psychological condition. He is guarding his own future, his preference, and looking out for his family."

The judge advocate: "What survivor had not testified to any fact in his possession?"

The witness: "I can't answer that."

Examined on his September charge that the Shenandoah was "fifty per cent overweight," the witness acknowledged he had no proof. Mitchell finally changed his statement as to the Shenandoah's "overweight" so that it read thus: "As a result of changes 50 per cent of her cruising ability was gone."

CALL MITCHELL MARTYR

Washington, D. C., Dec. 21.—[Special.]—Col. William Mitchell will be a martyr in spite of the recent court martial's efforts to prevent it. Today he was championed in the house by Representative Garrett (Dem., Tenn.), Democratic leader, as the victim of "cruel and unreasonable" punishment and by Representative Blanton (Dem., Tex.) as the target for staff officers.

Mr. Garrett's defense of Mitchell came during his general denial of the shortcomings and extravagant expenditures of the Wilson administration cited by Representative Wood (Rep., Ind.).

"The nation spent $1,051,511,000 for airplanes and there was not a single fighting machine ever delivered in France," Wood charged.

"Well, seven years have passed since the war when we entered upon the airplane business," Mr. Garrett said, "and what have the Republican administrations done? You have had innumerable investigations, you have had a president's board. You have had the Lampert committee. You have had a court martial, which has tried a high officer of the army who distinguished himself in France."

BRITTEN WILL PRESENT BID OF MIDDLE WEST

Chicago Request Carries Punch.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Washington, D. C., Dec. 21.—[Special.]—The Hon. Fred A. Britten, member of Congress from Illinois, will call on Rear Admiral Louis M. Nulton, superintendent of the United States Naval Academy, tomorrow and ask him, in a nice, friendly way, whether he prefers to go along with the Army-Navy game and the attendant parades of cadets and midshipmen. And it now becomes plain that when the Hon. Mr. Britten recently said to some concerned, "You must come over, I didn't mean 'maybe,' although those concerned may not have appreciated his tone of voice at the time."

FRED A. BRITTEN.

A Kick in Britten's Glove.
Tomorrow, therefore, the Hon. Mr. Britten will take salt and one thing and another with Rear Admiral Nulton at Annapolis, and along toward the salad and cigars will say, in substance: "Will you come, or will you be brought?"

Imperative Hospitality.
For the Hon. Mr. Britten has been industriously furthering the cause of Chicago's hospitality of late and he has now obtained signatures to a supporting petition, among them being the signatures of four members of the senate committee on naval affairs. And he himself is by way of being a power in the matter, being a member of the corresponding committee of his branch of the national legislature.

Invitation Plus Pressure.
It further appears that such a one that if the said authorities should crack wise to the Honorable Congressman Britten he would haul off with his hands and get in a few cracks himself. In the language of official circles, he would bring pressure to bear.

It's Hobson's Choice.
Maj. Gen. Fred Sinden, the superintendent of the Military Academy at West Point, and Brig. Gen. March B. Stewart, the commandant of the academy, who will succeed to the superintendency upon Gen. Sinden's transfer to another post next April, both tied themselves without ammunition in this engagement. Unfortunately for their objections, and it is understood that they do object to the transfer of the Army-Navy game to Chicago, they have not the option of naming the site for next year's game. The two academics take turns in selecting the battle ground and this was the Army's year, the game being played, accordingly, at the Polo grounds, New York.

Of course, in the case of so great a derivation from the time honored honorarium of these engagements, the authority at West Point would be consulted as a matter of courtesy, but if Congressman Britten's plan prevails the navy probably will consult the army in turn the like of these.

"We're going to play next year's game in Chicago; aren't you glad?"

The Standard Objections.
The objections to the transfer are identical at both academies and they have become somewhat standardized in

HUSKIES WORK IN MUD TO STEM ALABAMA TIDE

Coast Champs Polish Their Defense.

Seattle, Wash., Dec. 21.—(AP)—George Wilson, University of Washington All-American halfback, was busy heaving passes during the afternoon's practice here of the Husky football team in preparation for the game with the University of Alabama at Pasadena on New Year's day.

In spite of the mud, Coach Elmer Bagshaw kept the entire squad hard at work, stressing defensive play. Nothing is known of the Crimson tide style of play, so Bagshaw is preparing his charges to meet every kind of attack.

Some of the men are not in good condition, Bagshaw said. Bill Wright, regular guard, who is suffering from boils, was replaced in today's practice by Bob Thompson. Pat Wilson was at tackle instead of Herman Briz, while Don Douglas, regular end, was replaced by Johnny Cole, Romeo Larson, second string center, was pivot man for the first time this afternoon.

Possibility that some or all of these men would start in place of the regulars was expressed.

ALABAMA SPEEDS WEST

Amarillo, Tex., Dec. 21.—(AP)—The University of Alabama football team passed through Amarillo early tonight en route to Pasadena, Cal., for a New Year's day game with the University of Washington. A stop was made here for dinner.

The southerners will reach the Grand Canyon Wednesday and spend the night there. They are scheduled to arrive at Pasadena at 9 o'clock Thursday morning.

ALL WEST TEAM READY

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 21.—(AP)—Arrival today of Archie Nisbit and Babe Horrell, former University of California gridiron stars, completed the western squad which will meet an eastern eleven in a benefit football game Saturday night. The contest is being put on by the Shriner's for The Crippled Children's hospital. Head Coach "Pete" Sprott, of the western team, is putting his squad through two practices daily and this program is to continue throughout the week.

FANS TURN EYES WEST

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.
With Bill Ingram's team of all-stars on their way to San Francisco to meet a similar aggregation in a benefit game Saturday and Alabama, claimant of the southern title, well on its journey to Pasadena, where it will meet Washington, Pacific coast conference football champion, on New Year's day, eyes of the athletic world will be focused on California for the next two weeks.

Ingram has a formidable aggregation. The men know defensive football and if they have a semblance of team play should give a good exhibition of football.

Harmony on Squad.
In the past when such eleven were organized, the ball carriers frequently were not given enough support. Each wanted to shine and if certain players did not carry the ball they refused to get into the interference to do their share of the blocking. This will not be the case when Coach Ingram's eastern team battles the west's best at Berkeley.

All profits of the game will go into the fund for the benefit of a hospital for crippled children of San Francisco. None of the players is receiving a cent for his services, but all are having their expenses paid by the Shriners, who are promoting the game.

Alabama will be in the sunny climes long enough to engage in a number of practice sessions before Washington is met on the first day of the new year.

Huskies to Arrive Late.
Coach Bagshaw will not arrive with his Washington eleven until the day before the struggle.

Grange and Bears Embark for Florida Grid Dollars

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Chicago's Bears, who put elasticity into the football season, shook the snow of the loop from their shoes yesterday noon and started to the southward to the sunshine and the harvesting of more dollars for Red Grange, the graduate veteran of Wharton.

Twenty-two players comprised the party and before they return to Chicago by way of San Francisco late in January they will have played six football games in which the Bears in general and Grange and his astute manager, C. C. Pyle, in particular will collect considerable wampum. That is unless some considerable hostile with-out any idea of finances should bump into them in the first or second game and put him out of the spotlight for the rest of the journey. In that event, the trek would be canceled.

Practice on Train.
Holding football practice on any other field probably was never thought of by the college players, but the Bears did that very thing yesterday as soon as the train had started in the direction of sunshine and dollars. The athletes gathered in their private Pullman to indulge in a skill practice. This was necessary because of the addition of five new men who had to be wiped up to the book of plays.

A real practice will be put on today while the train tarries at Columbus, Ga. The men will slip into their cleated shoes and run through signals. Additional practice will be afforded by the periodical sprints to and from the dining car. They will reach Jacksonville tonight and proceed immediately to Miami, where real estate experts will endeavor to convince Grange that it is one thing to earn money and quite another thing to save it.

Six Games Scheduled.
The initial engagement of the Grange-Pyle corporation tour is scheduled for Coral Gables, near Miami Christmas day. Tampa on New Year's day is next on the chart, followed by Jacksonville Jan. 3, New Orleans Jan. 10, Los Angeles Jan. 18, and San Francisco Jan. 24. By that time Grange will have so much money that he'll consider quitting work and going into the movies.

HUNDREDS PAY FINAL TRIBUTES TO N. B. JOHNSON
Last rites for N. B. Johnson were held at the University Church of the Disciples, 57th street and University avenue, yesterday afternoon, with hundreds of friends of the deceased trainee of University of Chicago athletes in attendance. The assemblage included not only Maroon athletes who had received Johnny's ministrations when they were injured, but Big Ten officials, Midway professors, and others with whom the trainer had come into contact throughout his life.

Floral decorations, which filled the front of the church, were received from the Hyde Park police, the White Sox ball team, many of whose members Johnny had treated.

PURPLE SHOOT DOWN MICHIGAN STATE, 42 TO 13

Visitors Are Held to One Field Goal.

COLLEGE BASKETBALL

Northwestern, 42; Michigan State, 13.
Illinois, 35; Ames, 14.
Creighton, 27; Minnesota, 11.

Northwestern university basketball team, beaten by Notre Dame in its first start, made a comeback on the Patton gym floor in Evanston last night, and after fighting like wildcats ran over an astonished Michigan State quintet, 42 to 13.

The Purple scoring machine, which Coach Maury Kent has been polishing in practice sessions since the Notre Dame setback, stepped out in the opening minutes of the game and played placed on the opponents of their feet. The score at half time was 18 to 4, and so tight was the Purple defense that not one basket was scored by the Michigan five in that period. Russo accounted for the lone basket made by the visitors. His score came toward the close of the game. Successful free throws brought the Michigan total to 13.

Fisher High Scorer.
Waldo Fisher, sensational sophomore center, again led the Purple in points, scoring three baskets and six free throws. Moon Barker registered four baskets, while White looped four and two free throws.

The all-around work of Northwestern was the feature of the game. Coach Kent's boys found the hoop from the center of the floor and from under the net.

The huddle system which Kent inaugurated in the initial tilt against Notre Dame worked well last night. Fisher getting the tip off regularly from Jagger, Michigan center.

Subs Get Chance.
Toward the close of the game substitutes were used freely. Fourteen men performed for the Wildcats while eight worked for the Aggies. Lineup:

Ames, Ia., Dec. 21.—[Special.]—Illinois won the second game of its western invasion tonight by defeating Iowa State college five, 35 to 14. Illinois previously had lost to the Drake team in its first clash with a Missouri valley opponent.

Chicago Golfer, 83, Scoffs at Softness of Young Golfers

Pinehurst, N. C., Dec. 21.—[Special.]—John R. Towle of Chicago, 84 year old golfer who served in the civil war under Capt. Rufus Dawes, father of the Vice President, scoffed at modern softness today as the final members of a golf tournament of the season were called off because of rain.

To wit, played his round as usual, but said the young fellows nowadays did not take the game seriously enough. Towle, who occasionally gets under a hundred, despite his age, thinks the older men make better players. Towle was formerly an enthusiastic bowler and billiardist, but took up the game of golf here in 1905, when he was only sixty.

A real practice will be put on today while the train tarries at Columbus, Ga. The men will slip into their cleated shoes and run through signals. Additional practice will be afforded by the periodical sprints to and from the dining car. They will reach Jacksonville tonight and proceed immediately to Miami, where real estate experts will endeavor to convince Grange that it is one thing to earn money and quite another thing to save it.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

TRIBUNE TROPHY.

THE TRIBUNE Trophy for the Big Ten football player of greatest value to his team was offered with a view to stimulating team play and rewarding players who sacrificed their own individual chances for the benefit of the eleven as a whole.

One of the evils urged against present day football is the publicity and honors attaching to the individual, especially the ball carrier. Every coach, at heart, deprecates the fact that he must have "stars," but, on the other hand, he must make best use of the material at his disposal in order to win. This frequently results in building an attack around one player.

Red Grange was a product to the nth degree of this system. While Red was unable to get away unless provided with interference, as frequently shown, Illinois was not the same outfit when Grange had an off day. He either was the scoring ace or the threat which made other gains possible. Hence there was little dissent when he was declared the most valuable player of 1924.

The Wake feels the original intent of the Trophy has been observed. Had the choice gone to the players only over a period of years this might have been questioned. Selection of Grange and then of Lowry proves the wisdom of the system of determining the choice.

Gift Seekers.

Deep in the city's canyons.
A subtle army surged.
Onward, laden and weary,
By some great impulse urged.

Seekers of gifts in memory
Of that glad Christmas Day
When in a lowly manger
The newborn Christ Child lay.

Peace and Good Will! Come they to buy,
I mused, as they filed,
And from a passing mother's arms
A little baby smiled.

The Christmas Tree.

Dear Wake: Do you remember when Dad would hitch up the driving team to the old bob sled and Mother would pack us a lunch and dress us in our warmest clothes, tuck us in the straw in the bottom of the bob sled, and cover us with blankets.

Dad would get his ax and off we'd go along the winding country road, with the silence broken only by the jingle of the sleigh bells and the soft thud of the horses' feet. We would drive ten or fifteen miles through the banks of snow until we came to low lying hills at the foot of the mountains, where we would stop and give the horses some hay.

From there we would strike out over the hills on our quest for a Christmas tree. Sometimes we would have to trudge a mile through the heavy snow, passing hemlock, pine, spruce, and cedar before we came to our objective, a fir, beautiful in its decorations of snowy crystals. Dad would cut and trim it with a few clean strokes of his ax, and we kids would merrily haul it back to the bob sled. We would eat our lunch and drive home through the December twilight, happy and content.

WILLIS BATTLE NEAR CHICAGO LIKELY.

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 21.—[Special.]—Jack Dempsey today promised to put up $250,000 as his own guarantee that he will fight Harry Willis in or near Chicago next summer. Dempsey further promised to translate his word into cut currency and lay it on the table before representatives of a Chicago promotional syndicate, whose representatives informed The Tribune are to join Dempsey in the fight.

HARRY WILLIS.

Dempsey willing—If.
Dempsey on this proposed bout made a few days ago were said to have been favorable to Fitzsimmons, but Dempsey has never indicated his attitude except to say he would fight Willis when the proper guarantee was given.

"When they come we'll wind up the proposition," Dempsey said. "It looks like now, but I'll have to talk it over with the men who are coming on from Chicago and be personally satisfied with the money and the details. If they make good the way the thing is outlined I will be willing to put up as much money as they will. There has been much talk about the fight proposition that Fitzsimmons has put up to me, and I do not deny that our managers have gotten somewhat excited, but I look as though everything will not be legally settled for a week or ten days."

Jack's Attorney Disgruntled.

Fitzsimmons said the deal was not completed yet, but that he is "not willing" for everything being lying up at night and we will have Jack fighting Harry Willis in Chicago's own doorman in September.

Advice given Dempsey by his Milwaukee attorney, Ray Cannon, has been unheeded, and Cannon left Los Angeles disgruntled. Cannon's parting statement was that he supposed he still would fight for Dempsey in some of the heavyweight legal matters. Cannon turned reporters that he had advised Dempsey to accept propositions to fight in New York or New Jersey, taking a $100,000 advance in July. Cannon advised against the Fitzsimmons proposition.

$500,000 FOR FIGHT?

New York, Dec. 21.—[U. P.]—Charles A. Steinhilber, president of the New York Giants, and the Polo Grounds, who A. C. was reported today to be the market for a Dempsey-Willis heavyweight championship fight July 4. No comment could be obtained today from the office of the club, but it was suggested that the club was willing to accept any big matches for which it was a public demand.

Steinhilber was reported to have made Dempsey, through a western representative, an offer of $500,000 flat or liberal percentage of the receipts, and offered to Willis was not made known.

TEX SHUNS GEORGES

New York, Dec. 21.—[U. P.]—Tex Howard, who puts on his white whiskers and plays Santa Claus to many boys, has nothing to leave in his stockings. Carpenter's stocking this morning.

"Come and earn it," responded the manager when Georges sent Christmas greetings and a request for a fight for a fight in the new year.

Asked Dempsey Price.
The said he would match Carpenter with Georges Godfrey, the mountaineer, or with Paul Berlenbach, the light heavyweight champion, but that the Frenchman wanted "dempsey prices" to appear against him.

Howard paused just long enough in his task of decorating the Garden of the Christmas fund bouts to say that his only word to Carpenter was "looking doing" unless Georges wanted a hard fight.

Charity Bouts Attract.

Christmas fund bouts for charity are drawing a capacity house at the Madison Square Garden tonight. Heavyweight champion, and Tiger Flowers, who met in the main bout, are fighting for a chance to be matched with Carl Reinbach.

College Eleven to Play at St. Louis in '26

the course of periodic resistance to various efforts to shanghai the game away from its Atlantic seaboard locale.

1. The cadets and midshipmen would be diverted too long from their studies at a critical period of the academic year.

2. Students who found themselves on the ragged edge in one or more subjects might miss just enough study to make the difference between success and failure at the examinations. In which case it might be said that such young men laid down their chosen careers as a sacrifice to the holiday spirit of the city in question.

3. The gate receipts would be entirely consumed to pay the cost of railway transportation for 2,800 young men and the athletic funds of the two schools would not derive their customary kitty.

4. A precedent would be established by which the chamber of commerce of Jawbone, Ariz., or the Business Boosters of East Whittier, N. M., might feel justified in demanding a similar boon some time.

And Here's Britten's Answer.

Congressman Britten and a few army and navy men take the first objection well in their stride. The absence from class for a Chicago game, they say, would be not much longer than the absence now required for a Baltimore or New York game.

As to the second objection, Britten et al. of his opinion submit the idea of leaving all students at home whose scholastic standing might be endangered by absence from their studies.

As to the third one, Britten says Chicago will give the army and navy athletic councils their usual allotment of tickets for distribution among the active and retired alumni of both schools at the usual price per ticket and, furthermore, will pay all costs of transportation out of the receipts for the remaining tickets, numbering, according to Britten's plan, about 30,000.

But the precedent is something they don't attempt to vouch for. The future, they say, must take care of itself.

Services Think It's Private Affair.

Now there is some resentment in both services because the game has always been regarded as a private social affair of the undergrads and old grads, and something beyond the province of congress. Admitting that the taxpayers foot the bill for both institutions, the dissenters point out that the taxpayers also pay the by no means modest expenses of congress, which is never asked to do its stuff in Quincy, Ill., or Dodge City, Kas.

Congressman Britten has a resolution and Senator William McKinley also of Illinois has one like it, both of them to be presented to congress on or after Jan. 4 if the authorities in the meantime have not promised the game to Chicago for either 1926 or 1927. These resolutions will request favorable action on Chicago's invitation, and as a kicker, will say that the two academies henceforth be forbidden to restrict their games to Philadelphia, New York, and Baltimore by contracts covering a period of years as has been done in the past.

CHICAGO SKIERS ARRIVE IN OSLO FOR TOURNAMENT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.] OSLO, Dec. 21. — [Special.] — The members of the Norge Ski club of Chicago arrived in Oslo today under the leadership of Thomas Lie. They are starting training immediately in preparation for the national ski meet in February to defend the American colors.

The newspapers welcomed the skiers, advocating closer cooperation between the Americans and Norwegians. The Chicagoans are inviting the leading Norwegian skiers to attend the American functions next year.

BOUTS AT ARCADE TONIGHT. Bill Johnson, the Swedish heavyweight lumberjack, will meet Jerry Burhoff, the Roumanian, in the feature bout tonight at Ed Howard's Arcade gymnasium. In meeting Burhoff, Johnson tackles one of the best of the local amateur heavies. Other amateur bouts also will be staged, the first of which starts at 8:30 o'clock.

HANDBALL CHAMP TO PLAY TONIGHT IN CHARITY TILT

Louis Nelson, city handball champion, and John M. Feipel, king of the courts at the Central Y. M. C. A., will play a special match, the proceeds to be turned over to the Christmas Xmas fund, at the Kimrock Athletic association in the McCormick building tonight at 8 o'clock.

This benefit has been arranged through the instigation of Harry G. Moore Jr. and Paul Geidel, president of the Kimrock association.

As an opening feature Geidel will play Ralph Thorsen, the club champ, a match two out of three games.

NOTES OF THE CUE ROOMS.

Jerolman was the winner of Foley's house handicap three cushion billiard tournament game last night. He defeated Davis (33) 36 to 27. The game lasted 100 minutes, during which each made a high run of 3.

CHICAGO BADGERS BEAT ARTILLERY CAGERS, 25 TO 13

A. basketball tournament was completed on the Broadway armory floor last night. The Badgers took the lead at the start and retained it throughout. WINFIELD MIXUP

INFIELD MIXUP SENDS CUBS TO TRAINING FEB. 11

Grimm Only Man Sure of His Job.

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.
One isn't surprised that the Cubs are going to leave for their Catalina training camp at the early date of Feb. 11, when he is given a hint of the building plans for the team drawn by Joe McCarthy, the new manager. McCarthy has mapped out a lot of work and one couldn't blame him if he started right after New Year's.

It has been the general belief of the fans that the chief problem to solve was deciding upon a shortstop, that the other positions were quite well established. Such is not the case. It is apparent McCarthy intends to shift a lot of fellows around that infield with the exception of first base, which seems to belong to no one but Charley Grimm.

Shannon at Third.
When the Cubs procured Maurice Shannon from the Louisville club every one supposed he was to fill the shortstop job. But at the recent meeting of managers in New York McCarthy remarked that Shannon was the best third baseman in the country. He didn't say he was the best shortstop. There is reason to believe he will attempt some sort of a shift to play the boy at third and will use him at short only in case no one else on the squad can fill the bill.

Most of the fans here think pretty well of Young Howard Freigau as a third baseman. He was going at quite a merry pace before the last season ended. But Freigau felt himself a bit out of place at third. He claims his natural place is at short. He may have a chance at it.

Adams May Try Short.
Sparky Adams turned out to be a pretty second baseman last year because he had to play the position as no one else seemed to do it as well. Being an all round man, he did snappy stuff there. But Adams' natural position is at short. Possibly some other man will do the second basing so Sparky can return to his old job.

There is a young coast leaver, Chris Beck, coming up for trial. He is listed as a shortstop, but McCarthy learned that this youngster's first love is at second base. Maybe he'll assist in solving the problem.

To have a feeling of security for the shortstop job the new manager procured Jimmy Conner from the Cardinals. He's no kid, having been with New York and the Cards, though he did most of his stuff last year at Syracuse, where he socked the ball for an average of .402. He is 32 years of age and knows the game. He might even step into the second base job.

Recruits Appear Strong.
Besides this array, there are two recruits, Ralph Michaels, who was carried part of last year as utility infielder, and Ernest Hotman, a husky youth discovered by Scout Jack Doyle down at Texarkana last summer. Doyle spoke so well of this kid that President Yeeck bought him and paid more than ever before was paid for a class D player. He hit over .300 and is said to be a comer.

McCarthy will scramble these infielders for six or seven weeks in practice and exhibition games this spring on the coast and by the time the season opens he may be able to decide where they belong. But he needs all the time he can get.

LUIS ANGEL FIRPO.

Suer Admits Firpo Owes Him Nothing

New York, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Trial of Andrew McCorkindale's $50,926 suit against Luis Angel Firpo, Argentine heavyweight boxer, came to a sudden end today at the first session when McCorkindale, Firpo's former manager, admitted on the stand that Firpo did not owe him anything. McCorkindale had alleged in the suit that $50,926 was his share of $203,825 won by Firpo during his ring engagements here.

On McCorkindale's statement Supreme Court Justice Tierney dismissed the case. The complainant admitted the charges were made under the name of Alexander Scott. He told the court he did not want his parents in Belfast, Ireland, to know he was promoting prize fights.

Tex Rickard was in court, but did not testify. It was brought out that McCorkindale had signed a release to Rickard of his claim against Firpo out of court. Rickard said he gave McCorkindale $18,000 to sign the release.

"I don't know why I'm here anyway," McCorkindale told Justice Tierney. "My lawyer dragged me here. Firpo doesn't owe me a penny."

Justice Tierney said in dismissing the complaint that the case presented some of the "most disgraceable aspects" of any case ever before him.

Loyola Cage Teams Whip Lane Twice

With Griffin and Ladner accounting for 14 points, Loyola academy heavies downed Lane Tech, 19 to 12, yesterday in basketball games at Loyola gymnasium. Griffin sank five baskets and a free throw, while Ladner contributed two field goals and caged one shot from the foul line. The north shore heavies had the better of the argument throughout, using a fast passing attack to advantage.

In the lightweight game, Lane submerged Loyola, 19 to 10. Dombrowski broke through for three baskets for the Techs. Two points that do not show in the Lane scoring were made by O'Callahan of Loyola, who, losing his sense of direction, caged a basket for Lane. Lineups:

Snow Blanket in the North Woods Perils Wild Life

BY BOB BECKER.

Twenty inches of snow on the ground, the big varying hares or snowshoes showing their white coats of fur, lakes frozen, and the deer "yarding"—these are a few of the signs of winter in the north woods country. It's a snappy season, ideal for Santa Claus and his sleigh, but not so welcome to the birds and mammals that have to fight for food and often their lives from now until the snow has gone.

Fishermen and campers who spend considerable time in northern Wisconsin's famous lake region during the summer months would hardly recognize their favorite spots at this season when trails are covered and camping sites are more suited for igloos than tents. The abundance of deer signs in the snow also might surprise a fellow.

John McEnna, reporting on his trip through the snow banks around Marquette, Mich., and Winnetka, Wis., writes that deer tracks were thick along the road between those two towns. On the south end of Turtle Lake he located a deer yard where a plucky bunch of white-tailed banding together for protection, are now making a stand against snow and wolves, as the latter are serious menace to the life of the deer.

Chicago Drops Bid for U. S. Skate Meet

Chicago lost the national ice skating tournament last night when skate manufacturers failed to agree on the financing of the tourney. President Frank M. Kalteux of the Western Skating association had planned to have manufacturers finance the proposition and stage the meet in a public park.

Binghamton May Get Meet.
The tournament probably will be transferred to Binghamton, N. Y., where it was held two years ago through the efforts of William Fisher, athletic director of the Endicott-Johnson Manufacturing company.

"We were sorry to lose the meet," President Kalteux said, "but as the manufacturers couldn't agree we had to turn it back to the International Skating union. The dates, Feb. 11, 12 and 13, would not allow us more time to work out a financing plan, and I have wired President W. G. Bratton of the I. S. U. telling him to reassign the meet."

Plan for Elgin Tourney.
A meeting of the western association board of control will be held tonight at the Falconer school, Lamon and Wellington avenues, at 8:15. Plans will be made for the central states championship at Elgin, Ill., Jan. 2. President Henry Traub of the Elgin S. C. will attend the meeting.

Entries close today for the first meet of the season sanctioned by the western association. The tournament is to be held next Sunday at the Lake Shore rink, Clarendon, Leland and Lakeside avenues. The nominations close with Secretary Otis J. Taylor of the Lake Shore club, 64 West Randolph street.

Nurmi of the Ice Arrives to Race Yankee Speeders

New York, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Clas Thunberg of Finland, Olympic speed skating champion, arrived today on the Leviathan to take up, on the ice of the United States and Canada, the campaign which his compatriot, Paavo Nurmi, conducted on the track a year ago.

Thunberg expects to match strokes with the champions on this side of the Atlantic in five time trials. The first two will be at the new Garden in New York, Jan. 14 and 18, when he will be matched against Joe Moore, international indoor title holder. Charles Jewtraw, winner of the Olympic 500-meter event in 1924, and Charles Gorman, Canadian champion, among others.

The Finn, known as the "Nurmi of the ice," will then attempt to annex the world's outdoor championship at St. John's, N. B., in Canada, in a three day meet from Jan. 26 to 28. Thunberg expects to make his final American appearance in Detroit on Feb. 5 and 7.

$3.00 is the total sum the average motorist paid for denatured ALCOHOL
last year.

DID you pay more for the first filling with some other anti-freeze?

If so, you wasted money. Denatured alcohol would have given absolute protection in any climate at about the cost above mentioned for a whole winter.

It would always have been safe no matter what car you drive. Chemical anti-freeze mixtures often clog radiators, corrode metal surfaces, cause short circuits in electrical wiring, rot rubber hose water connections. This is admitted openly by the manufacturers who warn against using their products in cars of some makes.

Denatured alcohol is easy to use. A 30% mixture protects any car in temperatures down to zero. All you need do is add denatured alcohol from time to time to replace loss from evaporation.

DENATURED ALCOHOL is safest—denatured alcohol is cheapest. This is proved by tests made by the U. S. Bureau of Standards.

When denatured alcohol, sold by every dealer, is both safest and cheapest, why bother with dangerous, expensive substitutes that often cannot be had when you need them?

DENATURED ALCOHOL PRODUCERS of THE UNITED STATES

NINE MOTOR CAR MANUFACTURERS out of ten tell you in the service manual that comes with your car: "Use denatured alcohol as an anti-freeze mixture."

Nothing is more irritating than a short circuit in electrical wiring. Some of the most mysterious cases of "missing" are caused by chemical anti-freeze mixtures.

BUYING WEAK AND WHEAT SA
CORN IS EAS

BUYING WEAKENS AND WHEAT SAGS; CORN IS EASIER

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Wheat and extreme heat in Argentina, with an advance of 1/4¢ in wheat in the market, was responsible for a bulge around 1% in local prices early in the buying gave out later and with the loss of orders uncovered there was a decline of 1/4¢ in wheat from the top, with a flash at the bottom at not less than 1/4¢, the latter on old December corn was easy and 1/4¢ lower, the decline 1/4¢ and rice, 3/4¢ for the day.

Most of the trade was of a local character and the market was easily influenced. Preholiday dullness was strongly in evidence, and most of the pressure toward the last came from local operators, a majority of whom were bearish. Wheat was weak and 1/4¢ lower, the latter on December, which helped along the decline here.

Export Demand Light. There were unconfirmed reports of a great export business at the Argentine, but if any sales of consequence were made they were on direct orders from Buenos Aires, as the seaboard reported only 10,000 bu in all positions, partly durum. Brazil maintains its belief that the country of the world will require 600,000 bu of wheat for the season. Buenos Aires was 1/4¢ higher at midday and closed 1/4¢ lower.

An increase of 1,800,000 bu in the domestic visible supply, making the total 6,150,000 bu, against 5,825,000 bu last year, was somewhat less than the trade anticipated, but it led to selling which found support lacking. Supplies on the west coast decreased 3,500,000 bu for the week, and are 20,888,000 bu, against 21,100,000 bu last year. Heavy snowstorms were reported in the west, which was favorable for the new winter wheat crop.

Corn Weakens Toward Last. Start covering was on in corn early, with an advance of around 1¢ over Saturday's finish, but May broke 1/4¢ from the top to 80¢, a new low on the present movement. Resting orders checked the decline at that figure. Local arrivals were 865 cars and the spot basis early to 1/4¢ lower, with No. 4 grades selling. Sentiment remains decidedly bearish. An increase of 3,528,000 bu in the visible supply led to some selling, it raised the total to 11,450,000 bu, against 11,774,000 bu last year. Country receipts to arrive were light and weather conditions unfavorable for the winter movement. Oats were dominated by the action of corn.

Rye was dull and easier with some stop orders uncovered on the way down. Nothing was heard regarding export demand at the seaboard. Provisions were under pressure in sympathy with the break in grains and hogs and while buying by cash interests made a rally in lard at one time the finish was at net losses of 7/16¢. Ribs were 1/16¢ lower and bellies unchanged to 1/16¢ lower. Prices follow:

THE CENTURY TRUST COMPANY OF BALTIMORE, Trustee
For information regarding these Debentures, we refer to the letter of C. Wilbur Miller, the President of the Company, which he has summarized as follows:

BUSINESS: Originally established in 1832, consists of the manufacture and sale of Sulphuric Acid, Acid Phosphate and other heavy chemicals. These products are Staple Raw Materials for some of the chief industries of the country, including the making of Fertilizers, Refining of Copper, Manufacture of Dyestuffs, Bleaching, Refining of Petroleum, etc.

NET EARNINGS of The Davison Chemical Company available for interest and taxes before depreciation and surplus adjustments for the nine and one-half years ended June 30, 1925, have averaged about $823,000 annually or about four and one-quarter times interest requirements on these Debentures; for the past three and one-half years $654,000, and for the first six months of the year 1925 $215,859 or at the rate of $131,718, or about 2 1/4 times interest charges. On contracts already placed and the general outlook for the industry the management estimates that the earnings for the year 1926 will exceed $1,000,000.

SECURITY: These Debentures will constitute the sole funded debt of the Company and its subsidiaries (the Trustee of this issue will hold sufficient funds in cash for the retirement of $774,000 Davison Sulphur and Phosphate Company bonds, due March 1, 1927). There will also be pledged to the Trustee 10,000 shares, par value $100, Davison Sulphur and Phosphate Company capital stock (entire issue), and 184,650 shares, no par value, capital stock of the Silica Gel Corporation as security for this issue.

ASSETS: The total net assets as of July 31st, 1925, adjusted to include the proceeds from the sale of $3,000,000 Debentures, after deducting all liabilities including this issue, are over $20,000,000, or 6 1/2 times these Debentures. On a recent appraisal by Messrs. Dwight P. Robinson & Company Inc., Engineers, the land alone at Baltimore was valued at $3,000,000. The Company has no bank loans, and after giving effect to this financing, shows a ratio of current assets to current liabilities of approximately five to one.

EQUITY: The Company's outstanding capital stock, listed on the New York Stock Exchange at current quotations, represents an equity of over $9,000,000, ranking junior to these $3,000,000 Debentures.

RESTRICTIONS: While any of these Debentures are outstanding:
(A) No mortgage or lien can be placed on the property of the Company or its subsidiaries or no other notes or obligations may be issued or created except current borrowings made in the ordinary course of business.
(B) Net current assets must at all times be maintained of at least $1,500,000.
(C) In case of sale of any physical assets, monies received from sale or sales of such assets shall be deposited with the Trustee for the redemption of Debentures, except in the case of the sale or sales of any floating equipment or machinery not in excess of $100,000.

AUDIT: Balance sheet and figures used therein have been verified by audit of Messrs. Haskins & Sells, Certified Public Accountants.

Legal proceedings in connection with this issue are being passed upon by Messrs. Hinkley, Hinkley & Burger and Messrs. Knapp, Tucker & Thomas, Baltimore, Md., for the Bankers and Messrs. Venable, Baetjer & Howard, of Baltimore, Md., for the Company.

Pending receipt of definitive debentures, temporary debentures of the Company will be deliverable on or about January 7, 1926.

All offerings of debentures are made "When, as and if issued and received by us" and subject to approval of counsel.
Application will be made to list these Debentures on the New York Stock Exchange

RAILROADS BEGIN TO CHANGE MINDS ABOUT MERGERS

BY O. A. MATHER.

Discussion of railroad consolidations was resumed yesterday by several occurrences. Senator Cummings, who introduced in congress his long waited bill which would give the railroads three years in which to work out a voluntary consolidation program and thereafter permit the interstate commerce commission to compel mergers it should adjudge in the public interest.

At the same time, minority stockholders of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad launched another attack against the Nickel Plate merger plan before the commerce commission. They charged this consolidation, which is the largest in recent years, was conceived and founded on financial rather than transportation considerations and that no public interest would be served by the merger.

Ideas on Mergers Change.

In view of the time being required by the commerce commission to pass on the Nickel Plate plan, financiers and railroad men regard Senator Cummings' proposal as highly ambitious. Then, too, the fact that the railroads are enjoying more prosperous conditions is lessening the pressure for consolidations. Stockholders of the more profitable lines are not nearly so willing to try experiments, while those of less profitable roads, but with better earning prospects, are revising their ideas of valuations upwards.

For example, the American Railway association reported yesterday that the railroads as a whole are in the best physical condition since wartime federal control and that net operating income this year will approximate $1,200,000,000. This would represent a return of 5 1/2 per cent on valuation. This also is the best showing since federal control.

Motor Merger Details Announced.

Details of the merger of the Chandler Motor Car and Cleveland Automobile companies were announced yesterday. The new company will be known as the Chandler-Cleveland Motors corporation. Chandler stockholders will receive one preferred share, and additional preferred stock will be marketed to provide funds for retiring the $1,187,200 Cleveland preferred stock at 105. Of 1,000,000 shares of new common stock, 280,000 will be issued for Cleveland common stock, and the balance will be held in the treasury.

Directors of the South Penn Oil company voted to split up the capital stock by reducing the par value from $100 to $25 and exchanging four new shares for each old share. Stockholders will vote on the plan on Jan. 26.

Stock Increases Voted.

Stockholders of the Centrifugal Pipe corporation voted to increase the capital stock from 200,000 to 525,000 shares and to use part of the additional stock in acquiring control of the International Delaval Manufacturing company. V. Vivaudou, Inc., announced a plan to increase its common stock from 340,000 to 500,000 shares, changing the stock from $10 par to nonpar and making a share for share exchange. It also is proposed to issue 2,000,000 of 7 per cent cumulative convertible preferred stock.

The Utility Light and Power corporation plans to increase its capitalization to $21,444,000, offering to common stockholders $14,114,500 of common stock to the extent of 15 per cent of present holdings at 75 a share.
